One Man's Opinion

By CARL BRIGGS

Early in the year I purchased a fishing license with the intention of slaying a goodly number of trout in the Truckee River and adjacent streams, but I am ashamed to say that here the season is nearly over and I have yet to make much of a dent in the local fish population.

So thinking, I grabbed my fishing rod the other day when Walt and Elsie and Al weren't looking and snuck off to the river near Big Chief.

Now, fishermen come in roughly two categories, fishermen and anglers. Anglers are serious fishermen. They psyche the wily trout and subject him to penetrating analysis and attack him in riffles with dry flies made of deer hair and exotic bird feathers. They have split-bamboo rods that weigh about an ounce. They shun fibreglas like the plague. When not flailing water to froth with tapered lines, they can be found inspecting number 22 flies at Abercrombie & Fitch. Just plain fishermen, on the other hand, are kindly gentlemen who enjoy passing a quiet hour or two sitting on a rock exercising a worm. They are harmless and reflective, possessing neither rancor nor enemy.

So there I sat, harmlessly reflecting, when I was startled out of my poetic reverie (actually, I was asleep) by a harsh voice. "Whatcha doing, mister?"

The question was followed instantly by an earsplitting shriek and a large rock making a loud splash in the pool immediately next to my fishing rod. It was my friend, the little girl.

"Why, I am bathing this friendly worm in the cold, pure waters of the Truckee River," I said, suppressing a desire to throw rod and reel into the rapids and take solemn vows. "Has your Daddy sent you to bug me, or is this some sort of divine intervention on behalf of the fish?

"My Daddy hasn't been mad at you for weeks," she said, laughing and throwing more rocks in.

"I must certainly be derelict, then, in my editorial duties," I grimbled, and for one mad instant I imagined her portraying the part of Evil in some wild Elisabethan morality play, coming to haunt me for all the rest of my days. I briefly considered repenting for my sins.

Just then a kayak with flower decals stuck all over it came bobbing past, its pilot holding a martini glass, happily oblivious to the perils of navigating the Truckee while stoned.

"I say, old sport," he called. "Which way to the River Ranch?"

"Turn right at Martis Creek," I hollered as he went lurching between some rocks and disappeared under a bridge. "Poor devil," I muttered. "His glass is empty and there's not another saloon between here and Truckee."

"My Daddy always catches fish along here," the little girl said, infinitely wise in the ways of hurting a guy.

"I suppose you stun them with boulders first."

"Oops!" she said, standing straight and wide-eyed, holding a hand over her mouth. "I forgot. I'm sorry, mister."

"Quite all right, child," I said. "Traffic seems rather heavy anyway, rather like the Erie Canal. Yonder comes a sporting lad aboard a hovercraft."

An innertube hove into view bearing a shouting youngster, followed by several more rubber doughnuts mounted by increasingly louder boys.

An ancient Volkswagen bus stopped on the road above me and disgorged about 25 hippies. From the other direction came a high and ungainly camper with kids hanging out all the windows.

Oh well, I thought, I'll spare those fish today. I paused and said goodbye to my friend. "You can always buy some fish at the market to take home with you," the little girl said. She giggled and began throwing rocks in the water again.

Just like a woman.

Parks Commission Considers Future Plans For Ehrman Mansion At Sugar Pine Point

By FLORENCE BURGE

TAHOMA – Presentation here Friday of a California State Parks and Recreation Department concept for proposed use of the Ehrman Mansion at Sugar Pine Point State Park brought strong objections as well as constructive suggestions from citizens' groups around the lake.

Another controversial issue about which citizens voiced both pros and cons was whether the department would continue to allow dogs in state parks under existing regulations. The commission voted by a narrow margin to continue the present dog regulations for another year.

Both issues arose during a two-day meet last week of the California State Park and Recreation Commission at the West Shore.

The commission is a policy-making body to the parks department. It is made up of nine members from throughout the state appointed for staggered terms by the governor. Meeting with the commission were personnel from the parks department including William Penn Mott Jr., director.

Friday's meeting held at the Ehrman Mansion was preceded Thursday by a boat tour of Lake Tahoe waters and shoreline, a tour of the U.S. Forest Service "Stream Profile" building at its new Visitors' Center near Camp Richardson, luncheons at Sunnyside Resort and Swiss Lakewood Lodge and a dinner at the California Alumni Center near Tahoe City.

Proposed state park usage of the Ehrman Mansion included: a hostel in second and third floor rooms; a public visitors' lounge in the first floor dining and living rooms; an interpretive (displays and story) area in the tower rooms; a snack bar in the kitchen wing and eating area outside the house by the kitchen wing.

Citizens speaking out against the proposed usage represented thousands of residents of Lake Tahoe and its surrounding area.

Among them were Mrs. Kenneth Smith, representative of the Citizens Committee of South Lake Tahoe; Mrs. Grace Schmidt of El Dorado County Recreation Commission of South Lake Tahoe; William Briner of the West Shore, Placer County Supervisor; Ed Wallis of Tahoe City Citizens Advisory Committee and Mrs. Isabel Brucklacher, chairman of Lake Tahoe's State Parks Advisory Committee and representative of the Federated Woman's Club of Tahoe City.

All representatives emphasized that the Ehrman Mansion, "unique in itself and located in a setting unique in the entire world," should be preserved for posterity and "proper" public use. They also proposed it be used solely as an interpretive center for museum, arts and artifacts. The mansion was originally built by an early-day California banker and represents the "best" in Lake Tahoe homes of the period 1890 to 1910.

Mrs. Brucklacher presented an itemized plan including sketches of the rooms which had been worked out by the Lake Tahoe State Parks Advisory Committee. These plans include a restored cupola bedroom, an Indian diorama, a ski picture and trophy room, a museum room, a geology room, a library, an art center with displays of artists and "on-site" sketching and painting; and craft and science exhibits.

Mott said he welcomed the comments and emphasized that the parks department's plans were proposals only.

"There is no conflict between citizens and the parks department," he said.

"The reason for a citizens committee and hearings like this, is to get the feelings of the community," Mott noted. "We want you to come to public hearings, to express yourselves, then we will take these comments into consideration in our planning."

Mott said Park and Recreation plans are projected in detail five to 20 years in the future with the idea that they will be changed, refined and evolved in accordance with both feasability and the desires of the public.

"The parks and recreation department is a stewardship," Mott said. "We are stewards of $40 million doing business on an efficient basis. We need your help to be more effective and more efficient and state parks are to be developed, maintained and operated the way you want it done," he said.

Mott noted the necessity for citizen awareness of "prtecting the environmental quality" of the Lake Tahoe area. He said signs on trees and posts he had seen were the "beginnings of deterioration."

Commission chairman Harry E. Sokolov said he could make no comment at this time as citizens and department members concluded their remarks. He instructed Mott to "chew and analyze this thing" and make recommendations regarding the Ehrman Mansion to commission members at their next meeting in October.

In other business, the commission restricted the operation, launching, mooring and use of boats on the Oroville Reservoir state recreation area to the hours from one hour before daylight to one hour after sunset.

Parks department personnel said this is an emergency measure for the present and when the reservoir is filled, which may be as long as one or two years hence, proper adjustments will be made.

The commission also reiterated its stand on a proposed Emerald Bay Highway, saying members were unalterably opposed to the bridging of Emerald Bay and any further bisecting of D. L. Bliss and Emerald Bay State Park and highways, sewage or utility lines. Members sewage and utility lines could very well follow the present highway as they usually do in most areas, commissioners noted.

Park District Lets Contract For $18,584

Directors of the Truckee-Donner Recreation and Park District awarded a $18,584 contract to James C. Robinson of Newcastle, Placer County, to develop a portion of the Truckee River park on the south side of the Truckee river near the Brockway shortcut.

It was decided by the board to delay the main portion of the project until spring when more bidders will be available and to avoid the winter storms.

Robinson's bid covers site development, parking areas, access roads and pedestrian paths. This portion of th project is expected to be completed before storms stop the work.

Remaining work to be offered to bidders in the spring includes utility facilities, rest rooms, a maintenance building, landscaping, a sprinkler system, wiring and other developments.

A total expenditure, financed by federal, state and local funds, of approximately $115,000 has been approved for the park project, Dr. H. P. Tapia, district superintendent, explained.

Potentially Bad Fire Perils Incline Village

A potentially "extremely disastrous" brush and forest fire above Incline Village was quickly controlled and confined to about 1 acre last Saturday evening.

Fire Chief Jack Kissinger of the North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District at Crystal Bay and Incline said the fire had probably been smoldering an hour before it was spotted.

The department had a line on the fire within 15 minutes after the 4:37 p.m. call was received. Firemen laid over 1,000 feet of 8-inch line and used some 4,000 gallons of water in control and mop up of the fire. Two airplanes were called in to lay chemicals on the fire. The chief, four regular firemen, and 16 volunteers as well as members of Fire Sirens, firemen's auxiliary group, responded to the call.

The Fire District was aided in quelling the blaze by the Nevada Division of Forrestry which was on the spot within minutes with two inmate crews and a crew boss.

Chief Kissinger said cause of the fire was a hiker who started a campfire. It was in a "closed' area, one-quarter mile above the Panorama Point Lookout and some 800 feet below the Mt. Rose Highway.

"The fire district will appreciate any information regarding any person or persons seen Saturday in that area," said Chief Kissinger.

"We are continuing our investigation and we are also continuing to check out the fire location and will for the next few days."

The fire chief said he "could not give enough praise" to the Nevada Division of Forrestry and the volunteers of the North Lake Tahoe Dire Protection District for the work they did.

"With the upslope wind we had that day of some 25 miles per hour, it could have gotten away so easily."

The Incline trucks went out Sunday morning and quickly controlled another small grass and brush fire at Tyrolian Villiage. Chief Kissinger said cause of this fire was undoubtedly a careless smoker.

"People don't realize that the fire danger now is as great or even greater than in August," he said.

Planning Commission Acts On Highway Name Change

Nevada County Planning Commission responded to the voice of the people Friday night in a special public hearing held in Truckee and has recommended to the board of supervisors that old Highway 40 from Donner Memorial State Park to the Soda Springs interchange be named Donner Pass Road.

Consierable controversy had been raised prior to the meeting, with some thought given to the names, "Pla-Vada Way" and "Emigrant Way." The various factions were expected to give their views in this hearing.

All testimony before the commission was in favor of Donner Pass Road. Not counting the commissioners, there were five (5) persons in attendance at the hearing. The people were heard and the commission acted accordingly.

Olympic Team Boats Leave

Eight members of the U. S. Olympic Canoe and Kayak Race Team who have been working out at Sunnyside for the past week, leave today for Colorado. They will meet the rest of the members of their team, get their uniforms and go on to Mexico City for Olympic competitions.

Team members came to Tahoe to train at the invitation of Rudy Grigoleit, whose brother was coach of the last Olympic Canoe and Kayak Team.

Team members were special guests of the Optimists Club at their luncheon Monday. They were also honored Tuesday when Kiwanis Club met for dinner.

Award Airport Work Contract

A. Teichert & Sons, Truckee, presented a low bid of $122,865.-85 for new aircraft parking, tiedown, roadway, and hanger areas at Truckee-Tahoe Airport, according to Gordon Reddall, manager of the airport district.

Two other bids were received from Nevada Paving, Sparks, and Elliot-Scott, Alamo. Reddall said the contract was expected to be awarded within the next few days.

The area will provide for 96 additional aircraft parking spaces and an 8-unit T-Hanger. Cost of the hanger was not included in the bid.

Pair Injured In Accident

A Kings Beach woman, Patricia Tidey, 31, and her mother, Gladys Tidey, 68, of Michigan, were injured last week when their car apparently skidded on Interstate 80 a quarter of a mile over the Nevada state line and plunged 110 feet into the rocks below the road.

It took rescuers more than an hour to free the elder woman who was trapped in the vehicle.

Both were taken to Washoe Medical Center in Reno where their conditions were pronounced as "fair."

The car was traveling east at about 4 p.m. Sept. 10 when the mishap occurred.

Gebhardt Death Due To Drowning

The Lake Tahoe boating death of Robert Gebhardt last week has been attributed to asphyxiation due to drowning, according to an autopsy report from Captain Presley, deputy coroner of Placer County.

No official decision has been announced concerning an inquest.

Building Permit

A Placer County building permit has been issued to Dan Hauserman of Tahoe City for construction of a $65,000 two-story addition to his office building in central Tahoe City.

Bomb Threat Closes Truckee High School

Two bomb threats in the Truckee area are being investigated by sheriff's deputies.

The first came at about 8:30 a.m. Thursday when an anonymous telephone call to the Tahoe Truckee High School warned that a bomb had been placed in the building.

Principal Harold Drummond immediately caused the building to be cleared and then called Placer County Sheriff's Department.

A thorough search of the premises by school officials, sheriff's officers, California Highway Patrol and volunteer fire department failed to locate any trace of a bomb and classes were resumed.

Later in the morning, a receiving device on the telephone in the office of the Donner Utility Co. at Donner Lake recorded a message which said:

"Hang up, there's a bomb in here."

This threat, too, was found to have no basis, although sheriff's deputies made a search of the building.

Deputies are of the opinion that the threats may have been made by a disgruntled student at the school, as John S. Corbin, district school superintendent, the night before had read orders of the school board regarding the attire and appearances of students.

The orders limit the length of boys' hair and girls' skirts, among other things, and sheriff's officers think this may have started the anonymous calling.

Continued investigation is being conducted in both cases, Sgt. Roy Waters of the sheriff's department said.

Report Attempted Assault On Girls At Hidden Beach

Investigation continues today into the attempted rape at knife point early Sunday morning of two teenage girls from Agate Bay. The incident allegedly took place at Hidden Beach.

Sheriff deputies from Washoe County substation at Incline Village report a witness who responded to the girls cries for help and saw a man fleeing from the scene. The girls claimed they were accosted as they prepared to leave the beach to return home. They were forced into the brush at knife point at which time one of the girls was able to grab her assailant. During the ensuing struggle for the knife, both girls were able to break away and run into the lake.

The witnesses heard their screams and had a fleeting glimpse of a man running away as he went to their aid. Upon being told they were naked, he retrieved their clothing and assisted them out of the area.

No suspect has yet been apprehended.

Tahoe Forest Hospital Awarded Accreditation

Gordon M. Moyer, president of the board of directors of Tahoe Forest Hospital, has announced the accreditation of the hospital for one year. Notification of the accreditation was received from John Porterfield, M. D., director of the joint commission on accreditation of hospitals, on August 30.

The joint commission is the national organization representing the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medial Association.

The review of the hospital was made ty T. J. Hughes, M. D., on May 28. The review was requested by the board following the completion of the new wing of the hospital, when the increased bed capacity and improved facilities made it eligible for consideration.

Edmund E. Wilkins, M. D., chief of staff and Arnold L. Intorf, administrator, noted that it is unusual for a hospital to be granted accreditation on the first inspection, and stated that it is through the combined efforts of the present medical staff, and every employee of the hospital, all of whom spent many extra hours during the spring, that accreditation was granted after the first review.

Trio Swipe Stagecoach, Are Headed Off At Pass

A stolen antique stagecoach was chased down and rescued Saturday night by Placer County Sheriff's deputies in a daring scene right out of the old west.

Arrested and charged with stealing a stagecoach from in front of the real estate offices of Charles Beardsley in Tahoe City, were Elliot Emanuel Norquist II, 22, Kansas City; Robert Phillip Holland, 22, Los Angeles; and Bruce Jessup Eyman, 21, Lafayette.

Deputies William A. Tamblyn and Bill Hadley caught up with the trio on Highway 89 between Squaw Valley and Truckee. The Stagecoach was tied to the back of the car and was weaving dangerously at speeds up to 65 miles per hour, deputies said.

Arrest Youth On Narcotics Charge

Alerted by the parents, Placer County deputies have arrested a 15-year-old Donner Summit boy on charges of selling narcotics at Truckee High School.

Also arrested was Leland Everett Hein of Sacramento who is charged with supplying marijuana to the boy. Hein was arrested at a rented cabin near Squaw Valley. He has been moved to Auburn for arraignment and the youngster has been transferred to the juvenile facility at Auburn.

Deer Season Opens This Saturday, Outlook Reported Good

A marked improvement over last year's poor season is the forecast of the Department of Fish and Game for California's 1968 late deer hunting season, which opens Saturday, September 21, in the Truckee-Tahoe area.

Nearly all areas report good buck carryover from last year and conditions generally better than a year ago, when abundant forage and water scattered the deer widely. The reported buck kill was 40,000, lowest in 22 years and 40 percent below the five-yer average of 61,730.

Other factors in last year's poor season included a shorter hunting season in several key areas, a drop in the number of legal bucks in some areas, weather, decreased hunting pressure in some areas, and a change in the tag validation system.

The experimental "self-validation" system, which allows hunters to countersign their own tags, is in effect again this year, and hunters are urged to help make the system work by filling out the "report card" portion of the tag and mailing it to the DFG when they kill a buck.

This year's season continues through October 20 in the northeastern area and November 3 in the balance of the late season area.

The limit in the northeast is one buck, three points or better. The northwestern area has a limit of two bucks, forked horn or better, and the balance of the late season has one buck, forked horn or better.

The northeastern area boundary has been changed to follow well defined roads this year, and hunters should check the regulations booklet for season areas.

Shooting hours for deer are one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset.

Hunters are urged to take extreme care with fire and to leave a clean camp for those who follow. Fire danger is high in most areas except some portions of the northwestern region.

The U.S. Forest Service requires campfire permits in all areas except designated campgrounds in the National forests.

Deer hunters must have a valid 1968 hunting license ($4) and deer tags ($2). These are available at most sporting goods stores and all DFG offices.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR SIERRA SUN:

Perhaps you wouldn't mind a few thoughts and observations from a family of "flatlanders" who spent a very enjoyable September week at Lake Tahoe. Our headquarters, from September 2, to September 9 (when we weren't out enjoying the scenery) was at a 9th and Fir Street, between Homewood and Meeks Bay. Mr. H. Morgan, a long-time property owner at Lake Tahoe, is intimately familiar with the entire area up there. He rented us a cottage at very reasonable rates and extended us many kindnesses and courtesies during our all-too-short stay in that beautiful area.

September is indeed a beautiful time of year around the Lake Tahoe area. This was only the second time in nearly five years that this family of "flatlanders" have been able to spend some time around your fantastically beautiful area. Perhaps it might be of interest to let the permanent residents of the area know that many of us "flatlanders" actually do appreciate the beauty of the high country.

Obviously, there are those tourists who do not respect speed laws, traffic laws, litter laws, property rights, or anything else. However, I'm sure that most of us invaders from the flatlands, are reasonably decent human beings, just the same as the many fine and friendly permanent residents whom we had the pleasure of meeting.

In addition to my wife and my three teen-aged children (two boys and a girl) I also invited a girl friend of my daughter, and my sons invited one of their buddies. That made a party of seven, and needless to say, old Pop didn't have too much voice in deciding the various things we did during our all-too-short invasion of the high country.

We done just about everything that could possibly be done in just one short week. We visited Reno, Carson City and Virginia City. We had never seen the Nevada side so we took a grand tour clear around the lake. We went swimming, lounged on the beach, went hiking, and often we just sat around enjoying the beauty and quiet of our surroundings. Of course we weren't used to the altitude, so our hiking was done at a mighty slow pace. It wouldn't have been hard to spot us. At the top of any small hill, you could see us resting or dragging our feet along while gasping for more air.

It was interesting to read Carl Brigg's column in the September 4 issue of the Sierra Sun. Being an inky-nosed printer myself (some of us have red noses), I enjoyed reading Mr. Briggs' thoughts about the nomadic tendencies of printers.

It seems that the days of the so-called "tramp printer" are fading away. But I must state that some of the most knowledgeable, skilled, printing-house craftsmen I have ever met in the past 20 years, were traveling "tramp printers". I can't recall ever meeting and working with a tramp printer who wasn't a complete master of his craft. Over the past 20 years I've worked for newspapers and commercial printing plants of all types — from San Diego to Los Angeles to Sacramento to San Francisco to Oakland (not to mention some places outside the state), and I've had the pleasure and privilage of meeting printers from all over the world. Some of these printers have worked in every one of our United States of America.

Every time we are about to embark on a so-called vacation or brief respite from our daily routine, I promise myself and my wife that I will not visit the composing rooms of any newspapers in the towns we visit. I keep saying that I've had quite enough of the ink, the ads, the unorthodox proof marks, the pressure, and the deadlines of newspaper life. It's been a long line of broken promises. And our trip from Lake Tahoe to Reno, found the wife waiting out in the car while I paid a brief visit to the composing room of the Nevada State Journal & Evening Gazette, where Monty Haynes holds forth as composing room foreman.

Time ran out on me during my visit to Lake Tahoe. I wanted to take a brief glimpse of the Olympic Trials, but I just didn't get the chance. I was placed in the position of trying to please everyone in the party, including myself, and it just can't be done.

I read in the Oakland Tribune, down here in the flatlands, that Jim Hines equalled the existing world mark of 10.0 in the 100 meters. He predicts that it will be America 1-2-3 in the 100 meters at Mexico. It looks like some very interesting athletic competition coming up in Mexico. How does it look from where your sitting? That's Thirty.

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

We would like to take this opportunity to introduce our operation to you and to advise that we are in the process of compiling all necessary information and supporting data to complete our application to the Civil Aeronautics Board for regular scheduled flights between the Truckee-Tahoe Airport and Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose, California.

We have been, for the past five years, authorized to perform regular flights between those same cities in California and Hawthorne, Nevada. At the present time we are operating two Douglas DC-3 Aircraft with 32 seats and one Lockheed L-049 Constellation with 80 seats. We recently received authorization for one more Lockheed L-049 Constellation and our Bay Area Cities to Hawthorne, Nevada. We are presently operating on a Air Taxi Certificate with an exemption from the Civil Aeronautics Board to operate large equipment indefinitely to Hawthorne, Nevada.

We are planing on operating Ski Tours, Casino Tours, Evening Tours, Overnite Tours and offering regular airline service for the traveling public who wish to take advantage of same. This transportation will offered at very attractive fares and will operate on a daily basis.

Your name was given to us by Mr. Gordon Reddall, Airport Manager, at a meeting on Sept. 5, 1968. At this meeting we discussed Airport Facilities, our present operations and the names of Civic and Community Organizations and their officials who might be willing to support our application, in letter from, to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

This letter would be in the same form as those sent to the Public Utilities Commission of California in support of California Sierra Airlines on their application. Our application will be processed by the Civil Aeronautics Board due to being a Interstate Carrier at the present time.

Supporting letters should be addressed to the Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington 25, D. C. but should be mailed to our attorney, Mr. Roland Ginsburg, 9465 Wilshire Blvd., Beverly Hills, California so that they can accompany our application.

EDITOR, SIERRA SUN:

What's wrong with our youth today when they can sit nonchalantly by and see their class mates and friends injured because they are so tired they can no longer withstand the pressures put on them by a school with three squads of players and substitutes to spare?

We had only one squad of 11 with a "huge" bench of six men for substitutes. This should make the "big men" of T.N.T. feel great when a game cannot be finished because of only 11 uninjured men left.

The "big men" who use feeble excuses why they cannot play. For example "I bought a new car so I can't make the payments and play football" or the excuse I heard when one boy was asked why he was not turning out "Oh, (he said very smugly) I like myself as I am." (I hope he stills loves himself this Monday morning when he walks into school and comes face to face with the men who were struggling for our school on Friday evening).

Then we also have the excuses that parents give for their boys not playing, such as my son might get hurt or have a life time injury. Okay, these same boys are allowed to drive their cars down the road 90-100 miles an hour, also allowed to drink their beer and liquor, smoke. Some of these same boys use narcotics. This question comes to my mind, which is the more harmful, good healthy participation in sports with a chance of bodily injury or a sure injury to their minds and bodies harmed by the use of alcoholic beverages and narcotics?

I as a parent would and do prefer my son to take his chances on a football field than to get his thrills from places and things that can warp him and his attitude on morals for life. . .

As I looked Friday evening over those who were there to watch their team play football, I saw many who should have been with the team on the field. I was ashamed to see that we do not have any more boys who have "guts" enough to give of themselves unselfishly for their school. Of course there were a few who would be out there playing if the doctor would give his o.k. We cannot blame those few.

We have parents also who say I don't want my son playing because the coach is too rough on the boys. Well the only thing that can be said for these parents is that they have never watched the practices with an open mind. If we expect our boys to be able to protect themselves they have to have someone who is rough and tough enough to keep the boys in line. If they loaf and do not pay attention to what they are supposed to do in practice, they have to be made to realize the importance of protecting themselves and the team. I've seen the ripper drill you hear so much about It's not the most pleasant thing in the world, but when the boys go through this they come out a fighter and ready to train as they should.

"Coach too rough." He is rough and tough enough to command the respect of the boys, all you have to do is ask the boys who have had "guts" enough to stick it out. If it had not been for this rough and tough training our boys would have been slaughtered and I don't means score wise. Our team was up against men 70-100 pounds heavier than the majority of our team but our "men" still fought back because of their training.

I take my hat off to a coach who cares enough to see that "his" men have the right training. Don't blame the coach and say he's too rough just because your boys don't have enough "guts" to turn out for football and stick it out. Thank goodness we do have a few men who are willing to work and train under the leadership of our Coach-Dale Landon. hurrah for them.

I woul like all who read this letter to ask why it is that we cannot find at least 30 men out of over 500 students who would stand up and fight under their school colors on a football field, stand up proud and say I'm from Tahoe-Truckee High School. I'm proud to be a part of this squad of "men" who will fight, win or lose, for my school.

Where are they? Parents, do you know?

Signed: A parent who is concerned and cares what happens to young people now and what their future outlook on life is and what it will become.

Here's Riley

By ERNIE RILEY

The ad in the Los Angeles paper said, "Araucana or Easter Egg chicks for sale."

I should never have shown this paper to the child bride, because early the next day off we go to buy four young chicks. The man in charge guaranteed three hens and one rooster, but of course as they grew older they turned into one hen and three roosters.

Strange as it seems, these Araucana chickens lay several shades of colored eggs and are expensive when grown, like ten dollars for the hen and fifteen each for the roosters.

The new additions to our family were quartered in the back yard of our Long Beach home which also housed a Banty rooster, a small kitten, and several neighborhood children. All got along very well together until one day a police officer dropped in to have a word with us. Seems an ordinance made in unlawful to raise chickens in Long Beach.

The child bride's tears were to no avail so we decided to leave the area with out charges and treck north to a small ranch in Napa Valley.

The 600 mile trip north in a Volkswagen sedan loaded with our personal belongings, four chickens, and the little Banty rooster left a great deal to be desired. Many stops were made along the way. Crowds collected to take pictures and to look at the chickens, each held by a stout string to keep them in hand.

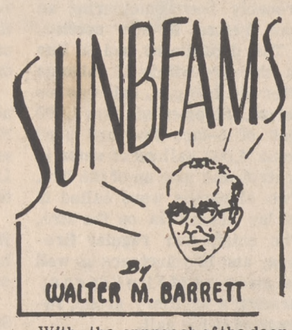
Once again an officer had a word with us, this time about obstructing traffic, so we used service stations for parking the rest of the trip, not making many friends with the attendants.

Arriving at our new home in the late evening, our charges were bedded down in a small pen and us in the house for a well earned rest. We slept well knowing how happy and contented our chickens would be to have 20 acres to roam around in instead of being penned up in a small yard in Long Beach.

All hands, including several neighbors were up early to meet the new arrivals and to watch the chickens explore their new home. Believe it or not, when their pen was opened they not only would not come out but resisted strongly when pushed from the rear.

It seems that chickens are a lot like people who get so used to their own little world they are afraid to try anything new, but after putting their feed a little further away each day they finally discovered the ranch.

Our problem then was how to keep them out of the house, as they seemed to think they were part of the family.



With the approach of the deer hunting season in this district, we would be amiss if we failed to call attention to the dangers which accompany hunting fever.

First off, we would like again to warn of the tragic results which might follow careless shooting. Too many so-called sportsmen fire at anything that moves within the range of their high - powered rifles and too often it may be another hunter. It is far better to lose the biggest buck in the mountains than to kill or wound a human. So be sure it is a buck in your sights before you pull the trigger.

Then there is the ever-present danger of starting an uncontrollable forest fire. This has been an unusually dry summer and folliage is almost explosively dry. A neglected camp fire, a carelessly tossed cigarette or match or any such foolish neglect, might easily set off a conflagration which could be disasterous. So make it a point to be more than careful and by all means report any fire immediately to the forest service or a peace officer.

Traffic will be heavy, so take it easy. Don't drink and then drive and be watchful of the other drivers. Each hunting season someone, and usually more than one, is killed in a traffic tragedy. So, be on guard and get home safely, with or without that buck.

Last, but by no means least, unless you are used to the hard work of hunting, take it easy. Heart attacks are not uncommon if you fail to obey the rules of common sense. Don't over exert. Take it easy, enjoy the outing and have fun with safety.

The season opens Saturday, Sept. 21.

Board Urges Lake Basin Full Support

"Full support to all efforts to maintain an excellent environmental quality in the Lake Tahoe Basin and . . . (the urging of) the staff of the State Department of Public Health to render all possible assistance to this end" was pledged in a resolution adopted by Friday by the California Board of Public Health which met at South Lake Tahoe.

In its resolution, the board noted "the waters of the lake are of exceptionally high quality" and urged "the early completion of export systems for both sewage and garbage waste."

Cooperative efforts of the California Tahoe Regional Planning Agency and local governments are encouraged "to continue their mutual cooperative efforts towards the end that the beauty of the Lake Tahoe region can be preserved," the resolution states.

Fund Surplus

CARSON CITY — Nevada's general fund at the end of fiscal year 1967 had a surplus of $5.4 million.

Officials said the surplus was a result of more efficiency in state government operations, and collection of about $1.5 million more in sales and gaming taxes than was expected.

Bizz Johnson Confident Timber Exports Will Be Restricted

Congressman Harold T.(Bizz) Johnson, a leader in the efforts to restrict log exports in order to protect the stability of local California lumber mill–based economies, last week expressed hope for early and favorable consideration by the House of Representatives.

Representative Johnson commented following the announcement that House and Senate conferees had agreed to restrict exports of logs grown on federal lands in western States commencing next January 1st:

"The pressure upon federal timer for the export market has pushed prices to nearly prohibitive levels for local mill operations," Congressman Johnson said. "Many of our California communities are dependent upon keeping these mills in operation."

Congressman Johnson had urged in meetings with executive agencies and in legislation that log exports be limited to 350 million board feet annually. This the conferees on foreign aid legislation agreed to do during the three calendar years of 1969, 1970, and 1971.

The conference report now has to be approved both by the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Similar regulations already are in effect for Western Oregon and Western Washington, imposed by Executive Order. This increased the pressure on Northern California timber. Congressman Johnson had spearheaded a move to advocate the extension of the restrictions to the Golden State.

' There is clear and supportable evidence of the threat of log exports to our domestic lumber industry," Conressman Johnson declared. "Timber prices in some National Forest sales have gone to levels three and four times the appraised values. Local mills just cannot compete.

"The alternative is to shut down the mills and this we cannot permit."

Congressman Johnson had maintained that the time for action is now, not before foreign nations became dependent upon American logs. This, he stressed, would create even greater hardships and international problems.

Announce Fire Poster Contest

Keep California Green, Inc., a citizen sponsored fire prevention organization, today announced the start of the 15th Annual Fire Prevention Poster Contest for California school children.

The contest is conducted to impress our young people with the high values of our wildland resources and to help in reducing the number of man–caused wildfires.

Most California counties conduct local elimination contests and enter only the top local posters in the statewide event. Four categories: primary, intermediate, junior high, and senior high have been established that cover all ages in our private and public schools. The competition is set this year to run through the entire school term with a closing date for receipt of entries set for May 6, 1969. Winning entries are eligible for engraved awards and are entered for further judging with top posters from other western states Keep Green organizations in December of each year.

Complete contest rules, bulletin board posters and samples of prior entries may be obtained by writing to the office of Keep California Green, Inc. at 2203 16th Street in Sacramento, California 95818.

Canoe, Kayak Team Coach 'Optimistic'

TAHOE CITY — Gert Grigoleit, coach of the U.S. Olympic canoe and kayak teams isn't worried about his teams' chances in Mexico City — he's optimistic.

Grigoleit, a Sacramento general contractor, moved here last week with eight team members and a Hungarian canoe consultant for 1 1/2 weeks of intensive high-altitude training. Eight other team members are training in Colorado in kayaks.

Grigoleit came to the United States from Germany 12 years ago. He competed in the tandem kayaks in the Tokyo Olympics for the United States. It was in Tokyo that his canoe consultant, Andy Torro, defected from Hungary to the United States after taking fourth for Hungary in the canoe singles.

He is pinning his canoe hopes this year on Andy Weigand of Virginia and Toby Cooper of Michigan State University in canoe doubles and on Pete Weigand (Andy's brother), John Glair of the Army, Merv Larson of the Army and Bill Jewell of the Navy in the fourman canoe.

Galir comes from Michigan, Larson from Los Angeles and Jewell from Newport Beach.

Every morning since Saturday the six competitors have paddled for an hour and every afternoon have paddled for another hour. During the rest of the day they lift weights or job around the north Lake Tahoe area at an altitude of 6,230 feet.

"The teams look good," Grigoleit said. "We've improved a lot in the canoes since the last Olympics and we should take a top place in at least the fourman canoe."

The men training here paddle two-man canoes weighing 35 pounds and four-man canoes weighing 66 pounds. Their course at the Olympics will be 1,000 meters, or about three-fourths of a mile.

The teams will leave here Tuesday for Denver, Colo., and for Mexico City two days later.

The United States canoes are of wood and are made in Denmark. Europeans for years have taken most of th Olympics medals in canoes and kayaks. Geigoleit thinks that this year once again it will be a battle against the Europeans. Canoeing is a great national sport in Europe, Grigoleit said, and it is not unusual for one German city to have many canoe clubs and to schedule races regularly throughout the summer.

Ski Club In Membership Meeting

First meeting of the year was held Saturday when members of Incline Ski Club met at Burnt Cedar Beach for a barbecue.

New President Wes Howell said this was a membership meeting and several prospective members were in attendance. Steaks and hotdogs featured the picnic menu. Children played kickball, had a tug of war and experimented with a little football practice — "just to get their legs in shape for the coming ski season."

Wood Soanes, outgoing president, noted the group is primarily a family club. The club's next activity will be a ski swap. Other activities include its "Broom Hockey Series," a Christmas party, a Sheep Meadow ski tour, sponsorship of the Buddy Werner League and an elementary ski program, a ski equipment seminar, are preseason fitness program, adult fun racing and an annual awards dinner.

Top Davis Cuppers To Go At Racquet Club

INCLINE VILLAGE – Top Davis Cup tennis stars will hold exhibition matches at Tahoe Racquet Club noon Saturday and Sunday as a warmup for the Pacific Coast International Championships at the Berkeley Tennis Club Sept. 23-29.

The players are arriving from Los Angeles, where they are now competing in the Open Southwest Pacific Championships.

Arriving at Incline Thursday is Judy Tegart, Australian defending champion this year in the PCIC women's singles and finalist at Wimbledon.

With Miss Tegart are Australian Davis Cup members Allan Stone, John Brown and Colin Stubbs.

Included among the top-ranking amateurs will be Ray Moore, Johannesburg, South Africa. He is number one-seeded South African player and Wimbledon quarter-finalist.

The stars will play single, doubles and mixed doubles exhibition matches with Miss Tegart teaming up with Incline's Linda Van Der Meer, former national college singles champion and wife of Tahoe Racquet Club pro Dennis Van Der Meer.

Their appearance is sponsored jointly by the Racquet Club and Incline Village, Inc.

The exhibition matches are being held in conjunction with the annual Tahoe Racquet Club's fall mixed doubles championship.

Top seeded in this event will be Glenn Grissillo, South Africa, who recently won the Nevada State open championship. He will be teamed with Linda Van Der Meer.

The players will be hosted at a party 5:30 p.m. Saturday at the Racquet Club.

The public is invited to attend the exhibition matches at no charge.

Tahoe-Truckee, Incline Lose

QUINCY, Plumas Co. – Quincy High School overpowered visiting Tahoe-Truckee High School 39-0 in football action Friday night. Eddie Thomas paced the Trojans' scoring with three touchdowns including one on a 43-yard pass interception.

Quincy captured the junior varsity preliminary by an identical 39-0 count.

The Sparks High School Ramblers downed the Incline High varsity, 40-0, Friday night in Incline's first athletic contest.

Bruce Lightfoot and Jim Stichter led Sparks' offensive drive. Lightfoot made three scoring runs, while Stichter scored once.

Trem Talk

The old building hasn't changed a bit! Just 91 days ago we were all saying goodbye to the mighty fortress of TNT. There have been a few student changes, but most of the faces are the same ones as last year; only one rank greater and we have been relocated.

The ex-freshmen have moved upstairs to the east hall where sophomores are supposed to be; the new juniors have moved to the upper west wing appropriately entitled "Junior Hall;" and the most superior class has established itself in the downstairs west wing, reserved exclusively for seniors!

We have quite a few new students — about 100, including freshmen — making a grand total of 521 (the-first-day-of-school count). Welcome to Tahoe-Truckee!

Even though the walls and halls have remained the same, the "school" part of TNT has been modified. We have four new teachers: Miss Butz (pronounced Bootz) teaching senior English; Mr. Fortes, freshman English; Mr. Santa Maria teaching life sciences, and Mrs. Wilson teaching girls' p.e.

We have a few additions in academic courses. Mr. Van Valkenberg is teaching aeronautical science, the equivalent of ground school education for future pilots. Mrs. Sauby is teaching public speaking and sophomore English. In previous years Mrs. Sauby has taught junior English. Mrs. Samll is now permanently located at our high school teaching junior English as well as chorus.

The various clubs at TNT are re-organized. CSF applications are available in Mrs. Armstrong's office. Junior Auxiliary met last Thursday under the direction of Mrs. Doris Luchessi to formulate plans for the coming year. The student council representatives have been elected in the first period classes. Bernie Huckle wants to organize a special Pep-Club. Any one interested?

* * *

During the first week of school a committee composed of members of the faculty and student body met to up-date the dress code. After 2-1/2 hours of discussion, an agreement was reached concerning girls' and boys' dress from head to toe. Also the boys' hair styles were discussed. Fellas, just keep it out of your eyes, off your ears and off your collar, clean and combed, and you've got it made. The school board approved the new dress code last week and it is now in effect. We shouldn't have any trouble conforming, should we?

* * *

TNT has always been an open campus school at lunch hour. Mr. Drummond has been very kind and considerate in letting us keep this privilege. This year, however, the school board has ruled that for safety reasons students will not be permitted to drive off campus without special permission. We can still walk off campus at lunch time.

* * *

Class pictures were taken last Tuesday. Senior pictures were taken yesterday and today.

Junior class rings will be here Thursday, September 19. Do you owe a balance? Please pay it and make checks payable to Josten's.

Our first practice football game was played at Quincy last Friday night. Despite those ominous black clouds forming on the summit that afternoon, no rain fell and great rooting sections for both teams were large and noisy. Unfortunately our teams did not come through with mighty victories, they really played hard. The varsity game was called half way into the third quarter because we had too many injuries and not enough players to fill in. We certainly didn't want to incapacitate our entire team. Injured in action, but not seriously were Augie Acosta, Curt Wurst, and Ray Street. The varsity team has only 18 fellows. The scores for the two games were identical, 39-0.

Lake Elevation

Lake Tahoe elevation today was 6227.57 feet, according to a measurement taken by the Sierra Pacific Power Co., Reno. The water gate on the Truckee River is releasing 174 cubic feet per second. Last year on the same date the elevation was 6228.26 and releases were 70 cfs.

Junior Alpine Racing Team Will Hold Registrations

The Lake Tahoe Ski Club Junior Alpine Racing Team program will hold its annual competitors and parents meeting on Friday, September 20, at 7:30 p.m. at the Tahoe Lake Elementary School, Tahoe City.

Registrations for the team will be accepted at the meeting, with the deadline for registering midnight, October 15, 1968. No registration will be acepted for consideration after that date.

This year the team limit will be 40 members, with openings for fifteen Class 4 and 5 racers and twenty-five Class 1-2 and 3 racers.

If the signup should exceed more than 40 racers, priority will be given to racers of the last season in good standing, local residents within a 20-mile radius of the Tahoe City bridge, and new people from outside Lake Tahoe basin — in that order.

Final team roster in the event of an excess of signups will be determined by the Alpine competition committee, and their decision will be final.

WATCH IT NOW! — Kibitzers Hazel Stewart, left, and Be Garson ignore golf's traditional silence to "help" Jeri Hendrickson sink a putt. All are preparing for the Ponderosa Women's Golf Club First Annual Invitational Tournament slated Sept. 24, at the Ponderosa golf course in Truckee. Acontinental breakfast at 9 a.m. starts the day. The sixth tee will be the site for a "Happy Wagon." Awards will be made following play at a 4 p.m. dinner at Donner Lake Lodge. Some 60 to 70 golfers are expected to participate from Auburn, Alta Sierra, Grass Valley, Peach Tree, Tahoe City, Incline, Reno and Yerington. Be Garson is chairman with Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Hendrickson co-chairmen. — Sun Photo.

Donner Doings

By VI WHITE

Fall blew in over the weekend, strong winds loosened many of the dead needles from pine trees and spread a thick carpet over everything. With hunting season starting this weekend, the snow that's been predicted early this year could come just anytime. Let's see, what were we going to do before the white stuff envelopes us? Getting more wood, painting, cement work, calking, waterproofing, cleaning the garden, and oh-so-many little odd jobs. Probably only half of the things will get done; it's too tempting to go fishing and hunting, isn't it?

* * *

A "think snow" party was held at Ray Huston's Squaw Valley home Labor Day evening when skiers welcomed new Alpine Meadow's president, Allen Even and his wife at a special cocktail party. Past president Byron Nishkian, his wife Ellie, and daughter Bonnie Boon and husband, attended from San Francisco, as did Bill and Lucrecia McKlory. Bill wore a neat green Nehru jacket plus a huge madalon that hung from a dog chain around his neck.

Ray's house-guest, Werner Wittenstein, former bartender at the Sugar Bowl Lodge, kept everyone in a gay mood with his constant resume of jokes. Werner is now at the San Carlos Bowl in that peninsula town, but hopes to be up again this winter.

It was nice to see Janet and Chap Wentworth after their recent tragedies, she wearing an unseasonable leg cast. Bill and Betty Layton, Dave and Mitzie Stollery promising a new hilarious play soon, Dottie Pomagalski who just returned from Hawaii, John Corbett, Burl, Werner's friend from San Francisco, Trinky Watson, Sandy and Wayne Poulsen, Sandy wondering if she could get all the kids ready for school the next day. Gardner and Lani Mein, John and Winnie Reily, their son John and wife Barbara, were just some of those attending the colorful affiar. All hoping for a good ski season.

* * *

The Sierra Tinker Belles Garden club met at the home of Selina Studer in Olympic Heights last Tuesday. U.S. Forest Service Ranger, Ken Legg spoke and showed slides of numerous colorful wildflowers, birds and animals. Several members purchased autographed copies of his book "Lake Tahoe Mammals" published this year.

President Edith Davis thanked this year's Flower Show chairman, Dawn Whitney, for doing a marvelous job and for all who helped with the projects. Proceeds will be earmarked to beautify the Truckee-Donner area by planting planter boxes that would look so colorful downtown, and growing vines on the baseball diamond fence at the Recreation Park and around poles there.

As chairman of the beautification committee, we would welcome any suggestions to help the area become more attractive.

New officers elected to take over next month are: Johnny Smith, president; Claudia Loynd, vice president; Mabelle Hadley, secreatry; and Anona Loynd, treasurer.

A field trip to Plumas Eureka State Park is planned for September 24.

The Pioneer Jeep Club maneuvered their tough little vehicles over as much of the Emigrant Trail as possible between Cold Stream Canyon and Donner Summit Sunday so that members of the Truckee-Donner Historical Society could add new markers along the trail.

With such rough going, we wondered how wagons could have been pulled across some spots, but with erosion for over one hundred years and scars from recent logging, their route was in much better shape way back then.

Two boy scout troops, and the signs placed by Mr. Weddel in the '40's, have marked the trail quite well, but now new white wooden ones are easily seen.

Historical Society members making the trip were: Roy Baker, Helen Buckle, Dorthy Fordham, Billy Fordham, Vi White and Mary Burnie.

Pioneer Jeep Cluber's were: Stanley Baker, Richard Self, John J. Collier Jr., Gene Hummel, all of Kings Beach; Wayne and Laura Walton, Allen and Barbara Bray of Tahoe City; David and Norma Holt, and Scotty of Tahoe Vista; and local high school teacher Hap Jones, of Truckee. The fellows kept busy winching and towing their way in and around canyons' sure wished I had a movie camera along to record those hair-raising experiences as they would shout "let's go jeepin'."

The Wes Goodman's from Santa Rosa, have finished their cabin on the south side of Donner Lake and moved in last weekend. They are looking forward to a comfortable winter beside a roaring fire.

* * *

We're glad to see Rudy Fahrberger back at his Stay-N-Play Motel on Donner Lake after an unexpected sojourn in the hospital. He can't wait to catch those elusive trout again off their pier.

Rudy and Mary's son William Fahrberger and Nancy Stevens were married at the Queen of the Snows Church in Squaw Valley August 17, by Father Ronan Brennan.

Members of the wedding party were: Marilyn Fahrberger Dedmon, matron of honor; Rick Brown, best man; Donna Brown, brides maid. Marilyn's husband, Richard Dedmon gave the bride away and was also usher. Eleven year old boys, James Dedmon and Rick Fahrberger were altar boys.

Mrs. Harry "Billie" Weiler played the organ for the ceremony.

A champagne reception was given at the Fahrberger's home at the Stay-N-Play motel on Donner Lake.

The young couple will be living in Santa Clara where Bill is employed with Sears and Nancy at Allison Pontiac in San Jose.

Visitors of the Fahrberger's at Donner Lake were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Phillips of Olympia, Washington. They had been neighbors in Santa Clara when both couples lived there.

Great to see the sewer pipes disappearing into the ground along old highway 40 so fast. The big mechanical ditch-digger certainly has hauled it's share of huge boulders out of the deep. Wonder if any artifacts have been uncovered along the historic route.

Soroptimists Council Conducts Area Meeting

More than 70 members of California and Nevada Sorptimists clubs attended an area council meeting Saturday at Crystal Bay where Lake Tahoe Soroptimist Club on the North Shore was host group. Theme of the meeting was "Increased Dimensions Through Framework of Visions."

William Briner, Placer County supervisor, was guest speaker. He detailed for the group present growth and developments at Lake Tahoe and told about projected needs and expectations for the area.

Honored guest Mattie Barker of Sparks, Nev., governor of the southwestern region, emphasized the need for "increased dimensions."

"We are all interested in world peace," said Mrs. Barker. "Therefore we must think in terms beyond our own individual clubs, areas and districts. "We must share."

Other speakers were Celesta DeLaney, Venture Clubs governor and Margaret Galli, district director. Host club president Jean Herbison presided during the luncheon. Chairman for the event was Leah Hopkins of Tahoe City. Rev. Jonathan Booth Jr. of St. Nicolaus Episcopal Church at Tahoe City gave the invocation.

Entertainment during luncheon was provided when Virginia Goodall of Kings Beach gave several selections on her harp. Workshops featured the afternoon sessions.

Use Herbicide In Forest Near Truckee

The Truckee District of the Tahoe National Forest has completed aerial application of herbicide on 290 acreas of brush covered land north of Truckee.

Danny Britt, timber management assistant for the district said that a chemical mixed with water was sprayed by helicopter into the brush. The chemical, commonly called 24-5-T, acts as a harmone, causing the brush to actually grow itself to death.

The area had been planted with small pine seedlings this past spring but the brush had grown so fast that it was competing with the seedlings for moisture and growing room. The chemical will eradicate the brush but is not harmful to the trees.

Raye Helicopters of Fresno contracted to do the job at a cost of $5 per acre.

Whittell Wins Over Loyalton

LOYALTON, Calif.—A tenacious Whittell High School defense intercepted five Loyalton passes and recovered four fumbles Saturday afternoon as the Warriors took a 20-0 non-league football triumph.

Linebacker Rick Hames intercepted two aerials as did halfback Kelly Dramer. Tackle Jim Stewart recovered three of the four fumbles.

Olsen teamed with McElroy on a 15-yard TD toss in the final period. Leo Luchetti plunged one yard for the final Warrior touchdown.

"The Owl and the Eagle" will be opening soon at Tahoe Vista — probably next week. The new business will be located next to Alario's Coffee Shop at Sandy Beach and will feature antique Americana primarily; antique bottles and related collateral, historic American poster reproductions, antique furniture, unique gifts, water color and oil originals, picture framing, fish taxidermy. Later expansion will include glass-blowing of early style technique, decanters and off-hand bottles.

Lorie and Hal Krause will be the owner-operators. They have moved to Tahoe Vista from San Anselmo, Marin County. Hal was a free-lance artist in San Francisco for the past 14 years. A son, Daniel, 15, is a sophomore at Truckee High and a daughter, Constance, 18, attends Marin Junior College in Kentfield.

Painting, renovation and landscaping are occupying the Krauses time until opening day. Watch for announcement and stop in and see this unusual shop. Good luck!

A nice surprise in the mail was a letter from Tracy and Irvin "Slim" Shipley who have been spending part of the summer at Tahoe City in their trailer home. Slim is fine but Tracy was hospitalized for over a week in Yuma, Arizona, last spring, having suffered a slight stroke.

They will return to Yucipa for the winter.

Tracy and Slim lived at Tahoe Vista for several years where was a carpenter and Tracy everyone's helper. Good luck, you two.

Albertina French Nimetz, wife of the late John B. Nimet of Alameda, passed away in Oakland September 11 at the age of 94. Her passing ends another great link with the past — of which she was a recorder and writer of early California history of the western Placer County area. She contributed many articles to the various news media as well as to the California Historical Society. She was a member of the Latter-day Saints Church of Alameda; Placer County Historical Society; Daughters of the Pioneers, Alameda; The Lyon Relief Corps of Oakland; and Col. E. D. Baker of Newcastle Auxiliary of the Grand Army; the Republican Club of Alameda; and a charter member of the Elwood Rebecca Lodge of Wheatland, California.

Mrs. Nimetz's father, James French, came to California from Michigan in 1849 during the Gold Rush as a member of a wagon train called the Wolverines. He settled near Lincoln and engaged in mining for a short time, finding ranching more profitable. He operated a 3,000-acre ranch northest of Lincoln near Bear River, selling produce to miners at Grass Valley, Gold Run, and other mining camps.

He returned to Michigan and married Ellen Van Wert, bringing her to California by way of Cape Horn. They had four children, John, Lotta, Albert and Albertina, twins.

She is survived by four neices, Florence Higgins of Sacramento, Bernice Maltby of Skyland and Oakland, Dorothy Hall of Oakland and Mary Dyer of Kings Beach.

Services were at the pioneer cemetery of Manzanita, near Lincoln.

June and Jerry Richards of Sausalito spent five days at their Tahoe Vista retreat. One of the last retreats of its kind at Tahoe — we think. Where else, they ask, can you spend $440 per day of $2,200 for a five-day vacation (?) with no running water, no electricity, no plumbing, a wood stove, and kerosene lamps? Exercise is chopping wood and bathing in the cool clear waters of Tahoe. We, of the old school, love this retreat and the return to modern conveniences is much more appreciated after a "camp-out" of this nature.

Barbara Oredsen and Behel Van Tassel were also among those attending the show.

Vel and her guests dined at the North Shore Club following the show with her husband, Lenny, who is currently appearing there with his band. Vel gorgeous in a long beaded gown and white mink stole — really "stole" the show.

Member Paul Leake said that "while the compromise measure will not soften the entire tax burden, it is what the property taxpayers have a right to expect and what they were promised. It is a decided step forward."

The ball, a highlight of the fall social season at North Lake Tahoe, is sponsored by the Volunteer Firemen's Association of the North Lake Tahoe Fire Protection District and its auxiliary group, The Fire Sirens. Presidents of the two groups are Frank Gurney and Mrs. Edward Black, respectively.

Special guests will be fire chiefs and their wives from the entire Tahoe Basin as well as dignitaries from Placer County in California and Washoe County in Nevada. Proceeds will go toward the purchase of a fire alerting system.

Open San Francisco Season

Sam and Audrey Harrison have returned to their Kings Beach summer home after spending 10 days in San Francisco where they attended the opening of the San Francisco Opera season. Though residents of the Bay City, they have for many years had extensive interests in this area and are wholehearted boosters of the North Shore.

The opening opera, which Sam and Audrey termed "great," was Verdi's "Ernani" starring Leontyne Price. During a prevoera dinner at Trader Vics, the Harrisons were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. A. Stern, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campagnoli and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sayad.

All the men in the party are trustees of the San Francisco War Memorial which includes the S. F. Opera House, the S. F. Museum of Arts and the Veterans Building. Sam, who is serving his 20th year as a trustee, is one of the Bay City's oldest city officials in point of continuous public service.

A highlight of the evening for the entire party was the satisfaction of watching the new gold stage curtain rise for the show. The $250,000 installation, a project of the trustees, is made of pure gold thread. Woven in Italy, it took a year to make.

Girl Scout Troop Forming At New Incline School

An opportunity to be among first members of a new Girl Scout Troop is offered Friday after school at Incline Junior Senior High School.

Mrs. J. A. Benson, who has offered to act as leader, said girls from the 7th through 9th grades are invided to attend and form the new group. Mrs. Yvonne Ivovic will be on hand also as assistant leader.

Girl Scout Cadets are offered four challenges in their club work which combine fun and opportunity. Challenges are social dependability including self improvement, planning and executing a social event; active citizenship in which members learn workings of local and state government and the part girls and women can play in government; emergency preparedness which includes health and safety and preparedness in case of emergency. The final challenge offered is that of the Girl Scout Promis which is comparable to Eagle Scouting in Boy Scouts.

Mrs. Benson said she urges all interested girls to go to the office after school to find out where the group will meet.

RENEWS SUBSCRIPTION — Nevada governor Paul Laxalt today renewed membership in Capital Community Concert Association with co-membership chairmen Mrs. Art Bernard, left, and Mrs. Milton Badt. Laxalt commended this volunteer group for making avilable high caliber concert artists over the years. The drive for memberships is on now, with headquarters in the Carson Theatre.

Truckee-Donner Chamber

By CARSON WHITE

We would like to thank all the businesses and private citizens who have paid dues into the Truckee – Donner Chamber of Commerce for this year.

We have collected almost half the money necessary to sustain the chamber functions for this year. We would be elated if those businesses which still have not paid their dues would do so. The budget cannot be made for printing a much needed brochure until there is sufficient funds.

I would like to remind all business men that hunting season starts Saturday and we will be the key terminal for thousands of hunters. More hunters will stop at Truckee than ever before. Some businesses will stay open longer hours to accommodate them. So keep a smile on your face and information handy. Remember, a satisfied tourist is our best publicity. And they do return.

The final regatta of the Donner Lake Sailing Club will be staged September 28-29. Commodore Fred Hodder will be defending champion.

Next meeting of the Truckee-Donner chamber will be held Wednesday, September 25 at noon at Donner Lake Lodge. Lets have a large attendance. County official John Trauner will be featured speaker.

Target Date

CARSON CITY — Target date for opening of the $2.5 million, 81 bed, Carson-Tahoe Hospital is Oct. 21, according to Jack McGlade, administrator.

Presently the hospital operates from temporary quarters in a convalescent home here. The old hospital was destroyed by fire Aug. 26, with all 32 patients being evacuated without injury.

Nevada Health Department officials are readying a request for federal aid through the San Francisco office of the Department of Health, Education and pital's destruction, McGlade noted.

Little People

Three baby girls arrived at the Tahoe Forest Hospital in the past two weeks.

Virginia Marie Ruiz was born Sept. 3. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ruiz of Tahoe City.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Smith are parents of Tona who arrived at the hospital Sept. 7.

A baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Prida of Incline Village on Sept. 13.

Jeep Ride On Pioneer Trail

Nine jeeps and 25 people participated in an Emigrant Trail jeep ride Sunday for the purpose of replacing trail-marker signs on the portion of the historic trail from the foot of Cold Stream to old highway 40 on the summit near Mary's Lake.

Members of the Pioneer Jeep Club from Kings Beach, Tahoe City, Tahoe Vista, and Truckee provided the transportation, while members of the Truckee-Donner Historical Society rode along and did the sign work.

The trail was first marked in 1924 by a man named Weddell, who died about ten years ago. The work was carried on by Dr. Earl Rhodes of San Jose, considered to be the foremost living authority on the Donner Trail.

North Tahoe Chamber Pot-Shots:

By BETTY LAYTON

The art show in the Ehrman Mansion at Sugar Pine Point State Park had over 1,000 visitors in the week that it was open. It proved to the tahoe park advisory committee, who sponsored the show, that there is great interest in the historical home and it will be a real attraction to have it open on a permanent basis to display the many authentic artifacts of the Lake Tahoe area.

Chairman Lillian Farr reported tremendous interest shown by viewers of the show of local artists and she thanked the Tahoe City Women's Club who assisted in volunteer services for the show.

Over 200 statements were taken from visitors urging that the Ehrman haome be used as a permanent interpretative center rather than be used as a youth hostel. Park Director William Penn Mott Jr. stated that no dicision would be made at this time but indicated that the advisory committee would have a year in which to gather artifacts and set up the center with the help of the state interpretative specialist, Hal Terry. Anyone owning museum pieces in the Tahoe tradition is asked to contact Mrs. Lillian Farr in Tahoe City.

The Ski Tahoe North committee has been meeting every Monday making plans for the new brochure which will feature very special ski packages available in the North Lake Tahoe area.

Six bids were received for the reprinting and Tri-City Printing of Burlinghame was awarded the contract. The new brochures will be available for the ski shows in San Francisco, October 3-6; Los Angeles, October 9-13; and Seattle, October 24-27.

The committee hired Slim Lichlighter to be in charge of the booth at all three shows. They are seeking volunteers to work at the shows and they state that it will have to be on a strictly nonrenumeration basis.

The following person have been serving on the committee: Bill Parson, Tim Sullivan, John Sproehnle, Jim Luescher, Doris Estabrook, Don Heninger, Ray Kettenhofen and Sandra Kocsis.

One-third page ads have been placed in several ski magazines and plans are noe being made for the telephone reservation service which will operate out of the chamber office. The new chamber directory listing motels and chamber businesses in the area will also be handed out at the shows. It is going to press immediately.

Chamber director Ben Damanchki attended the leadership conference for community leaders in Sacramento Friday. It was sponsored by the United States, State, and Sacramento Chambers of Commerce.

Some of the highlights of the program were: "Ingredients for effective performance;" "Structuring the organization to achieve the objective;' "The past, present, and future of voluntary organizations," and many other topics of interest during the full days' schedule.

Chamber resolution #18 regarding the export of federal timber to Japan, and resolution #19 concerning the Five Lakes Creek area above Squaw Valley in Placer County remaining in its natural state as recreational area and designated as wilderness, have been widely distributed with personal letters to our legislators and officials on a state and national level.

Answers to date have been received by U. S. Senators Howard W. Cannon, Thomas H. Kuchel, State Senator Stephen P. Teale, Assemblyman Gene Chappie, U. S. Forest Service Regional Forester J. W. Deinema, and Sierra Club Conservation Director Michael McCloskey, and more answers are expected.

A welcome to new members this week goes to the Tahoe City Health Food Store and its new owner Carl Edstrom, who offers a wide selection of foods in the Hendreickson Building, Tahoe City. Also to Willey's Wood & Rock located on Highway 89 on the Truckee River.

Get Permits For Bow Hunts

Bow hunters are advised by the Department of Fish and Game that permits are available for two special archery deer hunts.

Surplus permits for the Monterey and Los Angeles ar hery hunts became available Thursday, September 12, and will remain on sale until all are sold. Permits will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

The 28 permits for the Monterey Hunt are available from the DFG's Region 3 Office, Ferry Bldg., San Francisco, CA 94111. A total of 354 permits for the Los Angeles hunt are available from the Region V office, 107 South Broadway, Room 9012, Los Angels, CA 90012.

An applicant need not have a special hunt application, but must certify that he has not received a 1968 special hunt permit through the regular drawings. Permits will be sold by mail provided the request is accompanied by written certification that the applicant has not received another special hunt permit for this year.

The Monterey Archery Hunt will be held October 12 through 27 and the Los Angeles Hunt in two periods, September 21 through November 3 for antlerless deer and November 4 through January 31, 1969 for deer of either sex.

James Carey Appointed At Incline Village

James Carey, well-known in California for his work in top establishments on the gourmet circuit was today named general manager of Incline Village, Inc. club and resort operations by Robert Yoxall, National Director of club and resort activities for United States Land, Inc., Palo Alto.

Carey's experience includes four years as manager of San Francisco's Concordia-Argonaut Club, which has received national recognition for its food and service.

Other San Francisco gourmet establishments he has served include the Family Club, where he spent six years following a stint as manager of the glamorous St. Francis Yacht Club.

Carey has devoted his lift to hotel and resort management, following his graduation from Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., where he received a degree in hotel administration. Experience in California includes mangement of a hotel chain that headquartered in the Vandenburg Inn, Santa Maria, with hotels in Salinas and Bakersfield.

He managed the Statler Hotel, St. Louis for seven years.

Carey is past president of the Hotel Greeters of America and a past president of the Club Managers Association of Northern California. He is a 20-year member of the Northern California Hotel Association.

"I am used to the mountains. I spent every summer at Jackson Hole, Wyoming for 14 years," Carey said, expressing delight at moving to Lake Tahoe after 20 years in Hillsborough, Calif.

Cary's new duties will include general management of Incline's Chataux Club Restaurant, Ski Incline and Bowl Incline Lanes. He will be responsible for Incline's Robert Trent Jones designed 18-hole championship golf course.

Great plans for an interior face-lifting of the Chataux are included in Carey's plans.

"I hope to make it top attraction for the thousands of skiers who enjoy our ski area. They are drawn here by our snowmaking equipment and daily groomed slopes. We'll have special menus and entertainment geared to the skiing crowds," he said.

All Carey's spare time is spent lovingly engaged in the restoration of vintage horseless carriages. Having completed a 1919 Motel T Roadster, he is now engrossed in restoring a 1927 Star-Durant.

The Chataux hosted the Northern California Horseless Carriage Society last July.

MAKING PLANS — James Carey, right, new general manager of Incline Village, Inc. club and resort operations, shows some of his ideas to Robert Yoxall, left, National Director of United States Land, Inc. clubs and resorts, Palo Alto. Incline Village is a subsidiary of United States Land, Inc.

Hunters Leave For Visit

The H. E. Hunters of Donner Lake are leaving for a few days to be at the wedding of their grandson on Sept. 21 in Alameda.

Their grandson, Kurt Scheile of Alameda has been coming to Donner for vacations since he was three years old and his grandparents are hopeful that he will continue to come up with his bride, Peggy, also of Alameda.

Also of interest locally is the fact that the Hunter's granddaughter, formerly Sandra Jean Hunter of Oakland was married April 19 to Roy Lindahl of Oakland. His family has had a cabin on the Truckee river for 40 years.

Bid On Building Near Floriston

The State Division of Highways opened bids on several projects last week, including the construction of a sand storage building near Floriston, adjacent to Interstate 80 at Floriston Road.

One bid was received on the job, that from Hertel Construction Co., Sacramento, in the amount of $47,763.00.

Forest Expenditures Listed

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Twelve national forests located all or in part in the Second Congressional District will spend more than $41,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

This is the report compiled by Congressman Harold T. (Bizz) Johnson who represents the 20-county Congressional District.

In tabulating the allocations made under the recently approved Department of Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, Congressman Johnson said the largest single item of expenditure will be $13,022,896 for forest road and trail construction and maintenance.

"Seeing this program move ahead at a steady pace is most rewarding, "Congressman Johnson said. "When I first came to Congress 10 years ago the national authorization for this program was only $30 million. Today it is $170,000,000 and California receives about as much each year as was spent in the nation a decade ago."

Representative Johnson, a member of the Public Works Committee, has taken a major leadership role in the development and expansion of the forest road and trail program.

Timber management is second in the spending program with $5,493,544 ear-marked for this purpose.

"Sound timber management is essential for our economy, "Congressman Johnson stressed, noting that during last fiscal year the sale of timber returned $31,200,000 of the $32,369,000 in forest revenues earned during the year. This, in turn, resulted in a total payment of $6,782,000 to local county government for road and school purposes.

Other major items of expenditure include $3,777,676 for recreation development and operation, $2,866,405 for fire control, $518,918 for constuction and maintenance of structures, $3,814,000 for cooperative work, $896,815 for water resource develpment, $408,-264 for land and water conservation programs, $938,300 for brush and slash disposal, and $730,000 for soil, water and land management, and $614,000 for range and wildlife.

State Park Birthplace Dedication

SACRAMENTO — The spot where the California State Park System was born will be dedicated on Sunday, September 22, in Big Basin Redwoods State Park in Santa Cruz County. A plaque at Slippery Rock will mark the site of the original encampment of the Sempervirens Club, at which it was first proposed that the surrounding redwood grove be purchased and deeded to the State.

Some 3,500 acres were so deeded on September 20, 1902, and Big Basin became the first park in a system that now encompasses over 800,000 acres in 182 different units throughout the state.

The dedication is being sponsored by the Sempervirens Fund of Conservation Associates, a private organization raising funds to assist the State in land and timber acquisition to complete Big Basin and the new State Park at nearby Castle Rock.

The program will start at 12:30 p.m. and will include a vintage auto show and an exhibit of relics of early Santa Cruz County. Color photos of Big Basin by Howard King, and of Castle Rock by Ansel Adams and Phillip Hyde, will be displayed, and there will be a continuous slide show of the parks.

Tables in Big Basin's new camping area have been reserved for those who bring picnic lunches.

A dinner commemorating the 66th anniversary of the State Park System, and launching the Sempervirens Fund drive, is slated for October 10 in San Jose.

Slim Ellert of the Truckee Sports Shop validated the first deer brought in on the opening of the 1943 hunting season. It was a 100-pound buck shot by John Franklin of the Walker home on the Truckee river and was killed on Martis Flat. Game Warden Bill LaMarr said it was impossible to estimate the number of hunters in the area during the weekend.

Three young Ohio boys, aged 14 and 15, gave proof this week that despite claims, the Truckee jail is not break-proof. When Constable N. F. Dolley turned the heavy locks on the jail door he jokingly remarked to the youthful prisoners: "I'll give you boys two-bits each if you get out of here." A few minutes later the boys walked into Dolley's office. "Here we are sheriff, where's the two-bits?" The boys were locked up again and three minutes later were again free. The third time, they remained in the jail but opened the doors, which were still standing open the next morning. Incidentally, the young accused thieves spent their two-bit pieces on candy and comic books. The mystery of their escape remained an unsolved question.

A Roseville druggist, Robert Allen, brought in the first deer of the season, a four-pointer killed along the Tahoe highway. The season opener was one of the best ever recorded as hundreds of deer were killed.

In his capacity of express agent, N.F. Dolley has many and varied shipments to dispose of. For instance, imagine coming to work to find 770 pounds of live turkeys in your office. The flock was rushed from Salem, Oregon, to C.W. Crofton at Lake Tahoe. A day later, an 800-pound truck cab, in one piece, arrived at the office for J. P. Holland. "This job sure offers variety," Dolley sighed as he waited to see what was coming next.

WHY YOU SHOULD VOTE "YES" AT THE SEWER BOND ELECTION ON OCT. 1st

Q. Why do we need a sewerage system?
A. To protect our health and preserve the beauty and clarity of Lake Tahoe. In addition a community system is much more economical than individual septic tanks in the long run.

Q. Is there really a threat to the clarity of Lake Tahoe?
A. Most definitely, all experts agree that the lake will "eutrophy" (grow algae and become green and murky) unless sewage nutrients are prevented from entering the lake.

Q. Will this Bond Issue of $2,000,000 increase our taxes in Tahoe City?
A. No. The tax rate for this year is the same as before — $1.40 per $100.00 of assessed valuation. The Bond Issue will not affect it in any way.

Q. Who is eligible to vote at this election?
A. All registered voters living within the District's boundaries who were registered on or before August 8, 1968.

Q. Can all of the registered voters affected by this Bond Election vote on this election?
A. Yes.

Q. How much will this project cost us as tax payers?
A. The project will be paid for as follows:
A one-time connection charge of $225.00 at the time of hook-up.
A service charge of $50.00 per year after connection.
An initial tax rate of approximately $1.40 per $100.00 of assessed valuation, which will decrease as time goes on. Many of the areas presently within the Tahoe City Public Utility District are paying a tax rate of $1.40. The tax rate in these areas will not increase as a result of this bond election.

Q. How much will this amount to for the average tax payer with an assessed valuation of $5,000?
A. In addition to the connection charge of $225.00, the initial cost to the average family will be an increase of $70.00 per year on its taxes plus the annual service charge of $50.00.

Q. How will the street laterals be paid for?
A. The cost of the laterals in a given area will be assessed against the properties benefited in the usual manner used in most sewerage agencies. This is the way it was done in all the earlier assessment districts in Tahoe City.

Q. How much will the street laterals cost?
A. The cost of laterals will vary considerably depending upon the size of the lot. The average assessment in Sewer Assessment District No. 4 (The Highlands, Dollar Point, Lake Forest, Panorama-Estates, etc.) is approximately $1,400 to $1,500.

Q. Do I have to pay any assessment if I an already connected and served by the District?
A. No.

Q. Why is a yes vote so important?
A. First, because time is running out. We must act now if we are going to protect the beauty of our lake. Second, because construction costs are continuing to rise and the project will cost more later. Third, because we will lose a substantial amount of Federal and State financial aid if we don't act now. Fourth, because by Federal and State orders all septic tanks must be abandoned by 1970 and all sewage must be collected in a community collection system treated and exported from the Lake Tahoe basin.

Q. Is the Federal Government helping in the project cost?
A. Yes, the Federal Government will pay at least 30 per cent of all project costs. We have strong hopes of getting even more Federal Aid on future projects.

Q. Isn't the State also helping?
A. Yes, the State of California has authorized a $4,000,000 loan to the Tahoe City PUD, North Tahoe PUD and the Truckee Sanitary District to help get the project started. These are long term low interest rate loans. In addition We expect the State to provide additional loans to the Tahoe City District.

Q. Don't we have to pass this bond issue to get Federal and State monies?
A. Yes, if we don't approve the bonds we won't get the Government Grants and probably won't be able to get the additional State loans.

Q. What exactly does the project include?
A. It consists of trunk lines, pumping stations and force mains to be located on the West Shore of Lake Tahoe approximately between Timberland and Sugar Pine Point State Park.

Q. Why should I support this bond issue if I am already served?
A. Because this project will permit extension of service, thereby, enlarging the tax base and providing more economical service. Your present costs will go down in the future. If it fails your costs will stand very little chance of decreasing.

Q. Will we be forced to connect to the sewer system?
A. Yes, a recent State law required that all sources of waste in the Lake Tahoe basin be connected to public sewers if available. This is to protect Lake Tahoe.

Q. What will happen if the Bond Issue fails?
A. We will have to hold another election for it is mandatory that all of Lake Tahoe be sewered by 1970.

Q. Will the present treatment plant be able to accept the sewage from all other areas, including the West Shore?
A. No. A new joint treatment plant will be built next year for use by NTPUD and TCPUD. Its capacity will be 2,500,000 gallons per day. We plan on awarding the contract this fall.

Q. What is the assessed valuation of both the old district and new annexation area?
A. Old District, $12,354,638; New Annexation Area, $12,156,765.

Q. Don't septic tanks and treatment plants take out these nutrients?
A. No, as long as the effluents or outflow from these tanks and plants are discharged in the lake drainage basis, either above ground or below ground, the nutrients will reach the lake.

Q. What are the laws controlling sewage disposal at Lake Tahoe?
A. There are both State and Federal laws that state, "No new septic tanks can be installed after January 1, 1970." There is also a State law that makes it mandatory to hook-up to the sewer system within 90 days after it is available. The Tahoe Regional Planning Agency is considering passing an Ordinance which will stop all new subdivisions unless they are sewered.

Good Health Aided By Exercise

It is increasingly evident that people not only feel better but actually remain healthier when they get a lot of regular, strenuous exercise. The various systems of the human body work best during physical activity. This is because we have inherited our organs from countless generations of ancestors who survived only by means of hard labor, according to medical spokesmen.

Things are a lot different now. Our children are still born with bodies geared to strenuous activity. How many times has a parent watched a small child at play and said, "Where does he get all his energy?" But it doesn't take many years of living in our age of labor-saving machines for the body to lose its top condition. Muscles without hard work to do become soft and easily stretched. The tendons running from the muscles become slack. The joints which are moved by the tendons are less stable and the ligaments which hold the joints together are more exposed to injury.

It is with this sort of weakened body machinery that many Americans enter sports and other strenuous activities. The results are painfully familiar: Muscles called on to perform unaccustomed work become sore; slack ligaments are pulled suddenly and become strained; the twisting of unstable joints produces sprained ligaments. Then the activity is blamed, rather than the poor condition into which the body was allowed to fall.

Since most athletic injuries afflicting the "weekend warrior" occur this way, their prevention is obvious. Physical condition should be matched with the anticipated activity.

Whether it is snow skiing in winter or water skiing in summer, there should be a preliminary conditioning period for as many weeks as it takes to tone up the muscles. For those who can't predict when they may engage in such activities, the only logical answer is to stay in condition all of the time with a daily fitness program. Your local bookstore carries a variety of fitness manuals, any one of which will help you get started.

Even when you are in top condition, an accident can result in junury. The most common are contusions and sprains. A contusion is a bump or bruise resulting from a blow. This usually is accompanied by swelling and/or discoloration. If it is severe, the best treatment consists of wrapping with an elastic support, application of cold, and rest.

A sprain results when a joint is bent or twisted beyond its normal range. Strong muscles tend to keep this from happening but in an accident the muscles may be over-powered and the ligaments of the joint torn. Again, immediate treatment consists of support and cold applications. Continued severe pain or swelling indicates the need for medical examination.

Your doctor may apply strapping, or even a cast in very severe cases. The injured member should be elevated most of the time. Often X-rays provide the only means of ruling out bone fractures.

Fatigue is another factor which contributes to athletic injuries. Tired muscles are not able to provide adequate joint protection.

So, before you head for the tennis court, the lake, the wheelbarrow, the rake – remember you'll enjoy it all more and avoid needless injury by observing these simple rules:

— Pre-condition your muscles.

— Avoid extreme fatigue.

— Don't attempt activities beyond your ability.

— Apply proper care should an accident occur.

HAPPINESS IS A WORLD RECORD — From right to left, John Carlos, Tommie Smith and Larry Questad, 1–2–3 finishers in that order, explode with excitement after record-setting effort in the 200-meter final in the Olympic Trials at Echo Summit last week. Carlos' 19.7 eclipsed Smith's existing mark of 20 seconds flat. Smith also cracked the record, with a 19.7 clocking, with Questad, in his best personal effort ever, third at 20.0. Thirteen world records were smashed in the trials. — Tribune Photo.

Bible Flies To D.C.

LAS VEGAS – Sen. Alan Bible broke off his campaign in Southern Nevada last week to fly to Washington where he will resume his fight against efforts to license or register firearms at the federal level.

Bible, here for more than a week, made a hurried departure after learning that Senate debate on new gun control legislation is scheduled to begin Thursday.

"This is an issue of tremendous importance to a great many Nevadans and Americans everywhere, Bible said. "I feel I must be present for the debate preceding the votes."

Bible said votes on various amendments to the measure may come later this week or early next week.

The bill in question deals only with controlling the interstate sales of long-barrelled weapons, but it is expected that several amendments will be offered calling for licensing and registration provisions.

"Consistent with my previous stand I am flatly opposed to any national gun registration or licensing law," Bible declared.

"This issue is properly within the jurisdiction of state and local governments. Many states – and many communities – already have controls of one kind or another."

"In any event, the federal government has no business in this area."

While in Washington, Bible will also take a leading role in a Senate Space Committee hearing to determine why funds appropriated by Congress are not being spent on the Nuclear Engine Rocket Development Program at the Nevada Test Site.

Less Food Eaten Each Year In U.S.

The average consumer in the United States is eating fewer pounds of food each year, but still is averaging almost three-quarters of a ton annually. The drop in poundage is due to reduced consumption of bulky foods such as potatoes and cereals, more higher cost but lighter-weight foods, and the substitution of processed for fresh foods. The average citizen consumes over 3,100 calories a day.

California Employment Rises To New High

SACRAMENTO – The number of employed Californians last month climbed to a new record, and unemployment declined seasonally in August.

These highlights of the labor force situation were reported jointly by the departments of Industrial Relations and Employment.

Total civilian employment reached a high of 7,829,000 in August, a larger-than-usual advance of 95,000 from July and a gain from a year ago of 296,000, or 3.9 per cent, according to Albert C. Beeson, director of Industrial Relations. Earlier autumn harvest activity this year than last, accompanied by an earlier canning season, contributed to the relatively large gains in total employment both from a month ago and from a year ago, Beeson noted.

From July, the bulk of the job expansion occurred in manufacturing and agriculture. a strong upswing in the temporary workforce at the canneries constituted the major over – the – month rise in manufacturing employment. Principal reduction occurred in motor vehicles, where some plants were in the midst of retooling for production of 1969 models.

In the aerospace manufacturing complex (electrical equipment, aircraft, missiles, and instruments), a trade dispute held employment slightly below the July figure. The combined employment in the four industries numbered about 10,000 fewer workers this August than last, thereby marking the second month in a row that the complex has dipped below the year-earlier level.

RENEWS SUBSCRIPTION – Nevada Gov. Paul Laxalt has renewed membership in Capital Community Concert Association with co-membership chairmen Mrs. Art Bernard, left, and Mrs. Milton Badt. Noting that the association is the only culturally oriented organization in Carson City open to membership to all residents of the area, including Lake Tahoe, Gov. Laxalt commended this volunteer group for making available high-caliber concert artists over the years. He pointed up the need for a facility for such programs in the coming years. The drive for memberships will be conducted Sept. 16-20, with headquarters in the Carson Theatre, according to Elfrieda Franck, president.

Iranians Ask For Aid

Amad Roodsary is an Iranian with a mission. The 25-year-old Sacramento State student just felt he had to do something "to help his many suffering people" after a devastating earthquake hit his nalast weekend.

He has been in the United States four years and has not been home since. He last heard from his parents, by mail a month ago. Roodsary also has two sisters.

"Only one in 100 people in my country has a telephone," he said. "It would be almost impossible to try to call them, and I do worry very much about how they are," he added.

"The snow will fall in two months in Iran. The area the earthquake hit was in the northeast—a very mountainous place. It is the peasants who will be hurt most. Their crops, their way of making a living, carpet and rug weaving—all are destroyed."

It is estimated 20,000 people were killed and hundreds of thousands left homeless and without food or clothing in this nation of more than 26 million.

Roodsary has been in touch with the Iran Consulate in San Francisco.

The consulate spokesman, Hossein T. Eshragi, said his offices are receiving calls on the average of "more than 200 a day. We have been trying to help contact friends and relatives of Iranians who are in the United States and have established a 24-hour communication service to Iran."

Eshragi said the quickest way for Americans who would like to render aid in some way to the Iranian victims, would be to send a check or money order to Iranian Earthquake Fund, Iran Consulate General, 3400 Washington St. San Francisco, Calif.

AMAD ROODSARY
. . . makes a plea

"We need antibiotics and drugs most of all right now. Serum, blankets and blood are most needed as well.

I do not want to discourage so many kind people from sending food or clothing, but there are just no facilities to forward these things now. I believe we may get some assistance from the U. S. government, perhaps the Air Force later next week," he said.

Booklet Aids Young Families

RENO – Social Security Administration has just released a publication entitled, "Social Security For Young Families."

This booklet explains provisions of the Social Security Act with emphasis on provisions effecting young and growing families.

A typical example is one of a worker injured in an automobile accident in 1966 at age 28 who had very little work under Social Security. The 1967 amendments reduced the amount of work credit needed by a person who becomes disabled before reaching age 31. This worker now qualifies for monthly disability payments to himself, his wife, and two small children of over $230 a month.

These payments will continue while the person is disabled.

Copies of this booklet are available by writing to the Social Security Administrationa, P. O. Box 7717, Reno, Nev. 89502, or telephoning 784-5221.

Climate of the French Riviera did not gain international fame until the 19th Century, the National Geographic says. Wealthy Englishmen escaping from fog and Russian noblemen fleeing blizzards were the first to arrive.

WOW, WHAT BALANCE! – With political races hot and heavy this year, cries of 'fence-straddling' resound throughout. But this is quite a balancing act in itself. No, it's not a mirage, but the optical illusion was created when a truck was parked on a trailer alongside the fence. –Photo courtesy Bob Wakeman.

Local Radio Time Starts At 6 A.M.

South Lake Tahoe radio station KTHO (590) has been granted Federal Communications Commission permission to sign-on at 6 a.m., year-round, effective this week.

This is a change from the previous requirement that KTHO stay silent until sunrise, which has been at 6:15 a.m., during August.

During hours of darkness, the station's signal would travel great distances, and in order to protect stations in Canada which operate on the same frequency, KTHO remained silent until sunrise.

Daylight Savings Time complicated the matter in that sunrise would not occur until 7 a.m. during October. However, the FCC and Canada reached an agreement this week which permits the local station to begin operating at 6 a.m. year-round, whether daylight or standard time. KTHO's FM station holds an unlimited-time license and continues to operate from 6 a.m. to midnight daily with full power.

An application by the station to extend its service to Lake Tahoe 24-hours on the AM dial is still pending before FCC.

New Rate Schedule Set For Holiday Airlines

SAN FRANCISCO – Holiday Airlines today was authorized by California Public Utilities Commission to cancel its round trip and special round trip fares between Oakland and Lake Tahoe and between San Jose and Lake Tahoe.

The airline has been operating at a loss, having sustained a net operating loss of $224,706 for the 12-month period ending March 31, it claimed in its application to the PUC.

One-way fares of $11.95 between the Bay Area points and Lake Taheo will remain in effect. The round trip fare of $21.90 and the special round trip fare of $16.43 to military personnel, excursion, youth and family plan fares will be dropt.

Holiday claimed that traffic expected from the special fares did not materialize and that this type of fare caused confusion to the public. As a result, travel agents have refused to handle Holiday's ticketing because of the multiple fare arrangement and varying prices.

The airline hopes the simplified fare structure would expedite ticketing and check-in of passengers and would reduce operating costs.

The PUC order becomes effective Set. 24, with the new fares to become operative 30 days thereafter.

Highway 89 Improvements

MARYSVILLE – Work has begun on a state highway project to widen curves at five locations on Highway 89 between South Lake Tahoe and Emerald Bay State Park in El Dorado County.

One – way traffic will be directed through short one-way sections for the next two weeks while this construction is in progress.

John C. Mabry is highway maintenance superintendent in charge of the work.

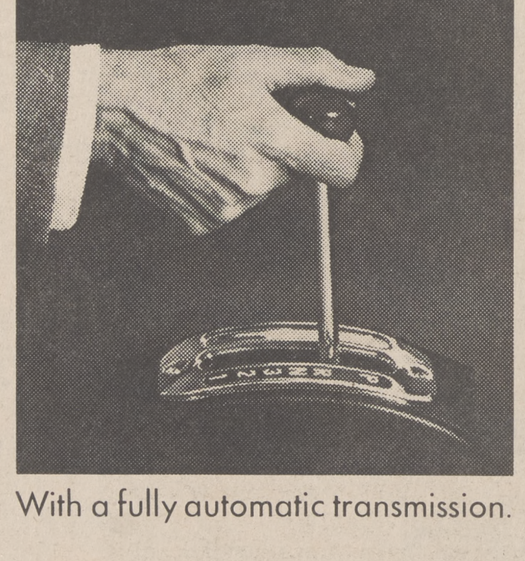
Volkswagen leaps into the present.



With a fully automatic transmission.

If you bet a friend we never would, we almost didn't.

10 years ago the decision was made. To design a fully automatic transmission. The kind you put in drive and forget.

Our aim was to make things easy, but for us changes aren't easy to make.

Especially in this case. There were certain things we just didn't want to lose.

Like horsepower, and our reputation for being economical.

What we've ended up with is a 3-speed automatic transmission that's pure Volkswagen—designed from scratch to get the most out of the VW with the least expenditure of effort.

It has the fewest moving parts.

It's the lightest per horsepower output. And it's incredibly sensitive. (A model airplane engine is powerful enough to turn it.)

So come see how far Volkswagen has come.

The Squareback and Fastback. Both have disk brakes, an electronically controlled fuel injection system, and now, a fully automatic transmission.

If you're interested, it's available as an option on our '69 models.

If you're not interested, we sure went to a lot of trouble for nothing.

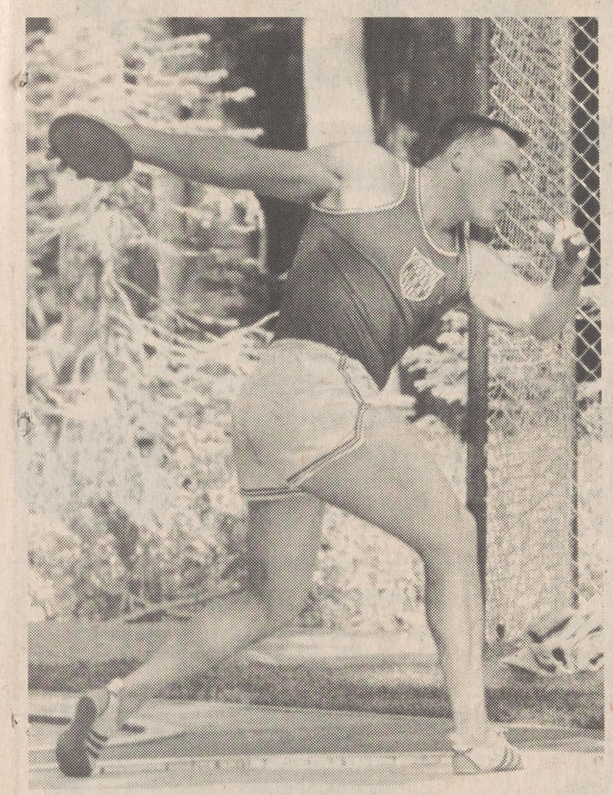
GREATEST 400-HURDLE RACE EVER? – Geoff Vanderstock, (far left upper photo) 6-2, 160-pounder from Pomona, cracked the existing world mark in the 400-intermediate hurdles Thursday. Vanderstock was timed in 48.8, breaking the mark set in 1964 by Rex Cawley, at 49.1 Boyd Gittens (lane 5) took second in 49.1, with Ron Whitney, (lane 3), third at 49.2. Fourth went to Tom Wyatt (lane 1) at 49.6. Paddy McCrary, (lane 4) and Jim Hardwick, finished fifth and sixth, respectively. —Tribune Photo.



THE FLIP THAT COUNTED – Jay Silvester, 29-year-old Smithfield, Utah, insurance broker, heaved the discus 207-6 to earn top berth among competitors in the event. Silvester holds the world record 218-4 (pending) in the event, set in Modesto last May. Silvester said the wind held down any attempt a new world mark, plus the fact he had lost eight pounds after a three-day bout with flu. He competed with an infected wisdom tooth as well. — Tribune Photo.

Climatology Program Checks Area Weather

Prof. John James, chairman of the Division of Natural Resources and Conservation at Tahoe Paradise College, has set up a complete climatology program to supplement regional weather forecasts and supply data for research.

James says that people in the Lake Tahoe Basin should be especially interested in the weather and now will be able to use his climatology work to become better informed.

"The response to this program by residents of the Lake Tahoe area is the best I've had since beginning this work," James added.

The climatology study has also been launched to provide Tahoe Paradise College students with practical experience and on the job training. Students maintain all the instruments, observe the weather and develop a better understanding of the climatic conditions, James reported.

Twelve stations have already been installed, and there will eventually by 25 stations throughout the basin.

The majority of climatic equipment was supplied to the college by the California Department of Water Resources in Sacramento and the program has been supported by the Reno Weather Bureau. Additional instruments have been furnished by James Olson of the U.S. Forest Service. Federal aid has been applied for to supplement the program, he reported.

James, who is aided in obtaining local readings by Henry Butler, long-time South Lake Tahoe weather observer, started the program in June here.

He became interested in the field of climatology while working with the Institute of Arctic and Alpine Research at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

At the Colorado University he built and maintained several stations to observe high altitude weather. This furnished additional information used in local weather forecasts and motivated several students to continue work in the climatology career field, James said.

After leaving Colorado, James started a similar program at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Here he set up three weather stations on the offshore islands which were manned by students. These stations offered data for monthly weather reports.

OLYMPIC BARBECUE – Hilmer Lodge, chairman of the U.S. Olympic Committe, was served barbecue hamburgers by head Olympic coach Payton Jordan as Olympic athletes, their wives, and other Olympic personnel attended a Sunday afternoon barbecue on the Dixie Bell anchored at Tahoe Keys. A steak barbecue will be held this evening at the Tahoe Keys pool for Olympic coaches, officials and committee members.

Fund 'Freeze' Delays Work

CARSON CITY — A federal fund "freeze" will postpone widening of Highway 50 from Spooner Summit to Glenbrook, according to John E. Bawden, Nevada highway engineer, who got word on Tuesday that $1.8 million planned for the project is in the $6 million the federal government is cutting in an economy drive.

Bawden said the freeze is effective to Dec. 1. He called it "a hell of a way to run a railroad."

Council Urges Form Return

Persons who have received application blanks for membership with Tahoe Coordinating Council are asked to fill out the blanks and return them as soon as possible.

Sheriff's and police officials will scrutinize the applications to determine who qualifies for membership on the council.

Identification cards will go to those who qualify so authorities will know the bearers are capable of rescue work.

The completed applications should be sent to the council at P.O. Box 9785 or to chairmen of the council's participating organizations.

Reno Gets Set To Host Famed Annual Air Races

RENO — Fighter planes of World War II vintage — modified to exceed speeds of 400 miles an hour — will again dominate the skies over Reno as the nation's leading competitive pilots test their aerial skills in Reno's National Championship Air Races.

The spectacular-in-the-air is scheduled for Friday through Sunday at Reno/Stead Airport, nine miles north of downtown Reno, with races programmed in all of the six classifications each day. Two days of qualification flights are restricted to Friday and Saturday.

The races, with $62,000 in purses on the finish line, will attract the most famed names from the ranks of racing history. Many contenders from previous Reno championships have entered this year's event, assuring close competition.

The first official contest for national championship status is the Harolds Club Transcontinental Trophy Dash was held Sunday from Gen. Mitchell Field at Milwaukee to Reno, a distance of 1,667 miles.

Winner of the cross-country hop was awarded part of $15,850 in prize money.

Lead pilots in the unlimited horsepower aircraft were expected to make the flight in less than 4 1/2 hours, touching down at Reno/Stead between 3 and 3:30 p.m. A two-hour special air show, beginning at 1 p.m., preceded the winners' arrival.

Albeit the big-bore World War II planes — P-51 Mustangs, F8F-2 Grumman Bearcats, Corsairs, Hawker Sea Furies — will tune up the highest horsepower of the races (from 1,490 to 3,300) the smaller planes will command equal interest from the more than 40,000 enthusiasts expected to bulge the spectator stands.

Each day's program Friday through Sunday, will begin with a display of antique and experimental aircraft and a balloon demonstration in front of the grandstands at 11 a.m. At the conclusion of opening ceremonies at noon the competition and daily supporting air shows begin.

The contests include:

Harrah's Trophy Race for Unlimiteds — Twelve to 15 entries are expected for the closed-course races routed for 12 laps around the eight-mile oval. The purse is $20,850; Harrah's is the sponsor.

Vehicle Code For Pedestrians Also

PLACERVILLE — "Whether you are a driver or a walker, there are parts of the California Vehicle Code which apply to you," Capt. William T. Kramer, commander of Placerville area of the California Highway Patrol, said this week.

Pedestrians should know the law," Kramer said, "because they have rights and responsibilities under it, just as drivers do."

Kramer said that 910 pedestrians were killed in traffic accidents in 1967 and 15,285 pedestrians were injured. Of those killed, 178 were nine years of age or younger, 91 were 10 to 19 years of age, 372 were from 20 to 64 years old, and 269 were over 65.

"The driver of a vehicle must yield the right-of-way to a pedestrian crossing the roadway within any marked crosswalk or within any unmarked crosswalk at an intersection; however, no pedestrian has a legal right to suddenly leave a curb or other place of safety and walk or run into the path of a vehicle which is so close as to be an immediate hazard, in a crosswalk or anywhere else," Kramer asserted.

Pedestrians also have the right-of-way on sidewalks, and drivers who are crossing sidewalks on driveways must yield to approaching pedestrians.

"A pedestrian on a roadway outside a business or residential district must walk facing traffic, close to the left-hand edge of the road," Kramer said. He also must yield the right-of-way to vehicles when crossing or walking on the roadway at places other than intersections are controlled by traffic control devices or by police officers, pedestrians may not legally cross the roadway at any place except in a crosswalk.

Record Learning

Senat Berger, recently signed to guest star with Tony Franciosa in "Collector's Edition," a film for NBC-TV's "The Name of the Game," says that she keeps the record player going constantly when she's home — but never plays music.

Senta, who could barely make herself understood in English when she first arrived here from Germany, now makes a hobby of lerning different languages. Thanks to the Berlitz records she now speaks five languages.

Moe Slaps At Unequal Highway Costs

SACRAMENTO — The latest refusal by the federal Department of Transportation to pay its rightful share of the cost in the construction of California state highways was labeled today as "an outright evasion of legal responsibility" by James A. Moe in Sacramento.

Moe was named last week by Governor Ronald Reagan as State Director of Public Works. His appointment is effective October 10 and he is serving as acting director until that time.

Moe cited a telegram signed by F. C. Turner, federal director of public roads, in which the federal government refused to authorize any state to advertise for bids on highway construction projects requiring federal funds until further notice.

Turner's telegram indicated that the ban possibly will be lifted on or about Dec. 1.

According to Turner, the intent of the freeze is to reduce Federal expenditures from the Highway Trust Fund by $200 million prior to June 30, 1969. Because federal reimbursements for work accomplished on highway construction projects is paid on an installment plan, Moe believes that it will be necessary to hold up nationally on approximately a billion dollars worth of work.

Moe cited three points:

1. California is forced to deter $150 million of new construction projects scheduled to proceed between now and December or more if the ban goes beyond December.

2. An unfavorable situation will confront the construction industry for the next several months.

3. The state's highway construction program has been thrown off schedule.

Bible Declares Support For Direct Primaries

PANACA, Nev. – Sen. Alan Bible has declared his full support for direct presidential primaries to enable the voters, rather than the convention delegates, to choose candidates for the nation's highest office.

"The present system is antiquated and makes a mockery of the democratic process," Bible told students last week at Lincoln County High School. "It should be laid away with other relics of bygone eras."

He said the two national political conventions dramatize the need for change.

Bible, presently campaigning throughout southern Nevada, said Congress should set the wheels in motion for corrective legislation. He said he would confer with senate majority leader Mike Mansfield, who also favors direct primaries, later this month in Washington.

"The simplest solution would be to establish a nationwide primary in August or September at which time the voters of each party would choose their candidate by popular ballot," Nevada's senior senator said.

"This, of course, would greatly alter the concept of the national convention. Delegates would be concerned only with the selection of a vice-presidential candidate and the drafting of a platform and resolution."

An alternate plan, Bible said, would permit the individual state to conduct presidential primaries. Convention delegates would still cast the actual nominating votes, but they would be required by law to follow the dictates of the voters.

"This is an age of independent thinking," he declared. "We can no longer pretend that all Democrats think alike, or that all Republicans think alike. The fact is there are wide differences of opinion in both parties. These differences must be recognized."

Punt, Pass Kick Contest Under Way

Registration for America's No. 1 Boys' sports contest — the annual Punt, Pass and Kick competition — is under way at Ford dealerships throughout the West and will continue through Oct. 4.

The event, entering its eighth year, is sponsored by the Ford dealers of America and the National Football League. Registration will be held at participating Ford dealerships, or at locations designated by them.

PP&K pits the youth's punting, passing and place-kicking skills and is open to boys from eight through 13 years of age.

Since its inception in 1961, the program has attracted more then 4,000,000 entrants, including a record 917,000 last year. Each boy should be accompanied by one of his parents or a legal guardian. All registrants receive a free PP&K lapel pin and a "Tips Booklet" containing stories on NFL stars.

The first round of competition will be held the weekend of Oct. 12-13. Zone competitions will be conducted the following weekend and district champions will be determined on Oct. 26. The boys will proceed to area competitions in each of the NFL team stadiums at halftime of a home game.

Divisional champions, determined Dec. 14 at St. Louis and Dec. 15 at Atlanta, will compete for national honors at halftime of the NFL play-off bowl game at the Orange Bowl in Miami, Jan. 5, 1969, and will go on a Tour of Champions to Washington, D. C. accompanied by their mothers and fathers.

PP&K success depends upon distance, plus accuracy, in three football skills, punting, passing and place-kicking. Boys compete only against youngsters of their own age, and identical awards will be given at all six levels.

The awards will be beautifully designed trophies, and can be accepted without impairing amateur standings.

Scoring is simple. In each of the PP&K categories, judges award one point for each foot the ball travels in the air and deduct one point for each foot the ball lands to the left or right of a center line.

When the three figures are totaled, there is as much premium on accuracy as upon distance.

Complete rules are available at participating Ford dealerships.

Medical Group Points Out Ways To Prevent Cancer

Can Cancer be Prevented?

Yes, to a limited extent, and the known preventive measures are well worth taking, according to spokesmen of the California Medical Association.

The cause of cancer is still unknown, although this is an area of diligent and promising research. Until the cause has been identified, preventive measures must of necessity be limited in scope, but there are some things which can be done to prevent certain forms of cancer, and in other instances, preventive action can reduce the gravity of the disease.

The form of lung cancer which is associated with cigarette smoking is the most preventable common type of cancer. This is of particular concern to the health professions because lung cancer is increasing faster than all other forms of the disease. Lung cancer death rates are ten times as high among regular cigarette smokers as among those who never smoke. By the time a lung cancer has advanced to the stage at which it can be detected by x-ray examination, it has usually progressed too far to be cured. Accordingly, prevention is virtually the only attack which can be made against this type of cancer, CMA officials report.

To a certain extent, cancer may be caused by a range of external factors in our environment. A number of chemical substances have been classified as carcinogens—that is, they either cause some types of cancer directly or indirectly. These carcinogens include certain dyes, metals, petroleum products and other substances which are used in industrial processes. As these chemicals are identified, they are either being eliminated, or workers are being properly safeguarded so that the risks of exposure are reduced.

Excessive exposure to radiation in its various forms can be cancer-producing. Everyone incurs this risk to some extent in our daily exposure to the ultraviolet rays of the sun. Since cancer of the skin, particularly among fair-complexioned persons, can be induced by overexposure to direct sunlight year after year, caution in this respect can be an effective preventive measure. The risks of exposure to radiation used medically for diagnostic and therapeutic purposes are less hazardous than many persons believe, since such exposure is monitored by trained persons who use all necessary precautions to protect the patient.

In some cases, preventive surgery can be resorted to when precancerous lesions are detected. Such surgery, which is usually minor, might be indicated if polyps are detected in the rectum or if a mole is subject to constant irritation or is changing size or color. Other lesions which might be precanerous and which should be called to a physician's attention for possible preventive action include white patches on the lining of the mouth; dry, scaly, itching patches on the skin, particularly on the faces of elderly people; and sores repeatedly caused by jagged teeth or ill-fitting dental plates, CMA reports.

At still another level of prevention, early detection of some forms of cancer can prevent them from spreading to other sites and overwhelming the rest of the body. Perhaps the most successful instance of this form of prevention is the detection of cancer of the cervix by means of the "Pap" test. When found early, before it invades other tissues, this cancer has an encouragingly high cure rate.

An ultimate hope in cancer research is to understand fully the causes of cancer. Since there are many forms of cancer, it is quite possible that there are many causes. If, However, it is ever established that some forms of cancer in human beings are caused by viruses (a possibility which is being ardously explored), we could hope for the development of a vaccine to protect us against the disease —much as we now have vaccines which give us immunity against polio. Until then, prevention of cancer must center on avoiding external elements which might contribute to the disease and seeking prompt medical advice and action concerning suspicious symptoms.

Lance Garver, older brother of Kathy Garver of "Family Affair," has been cast as a reporter in an episode of that Monday-night series, filmed for fall broadcast on the CBS Television Network. Each regular member of the cast now has had a family member on the show, making it truly a "Family Affair." Merchant Marines Plan New Program

SAN FRANCISCO — U. S. Department of Labor and the maritime industry serving West Coast ports have joined together in establishing a precedent-setting apprenticeship program to prepare disadvantaged youngsters for merchant marine careers.

A tri-party agreement has been signed which will provide 135 sea-going apprentice cooks bakers and butchers over the next 14 months. The agreement was formulated by the department's Bureau of Apprenticeship and Training.

Signing on behalf of management was the Pacific Maritime Association, an employer organization that represents ship owners, stevedore companies, and terminals from Bellingham, Wash., to San Diego. The labor partner in the agreement is the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union, AFL-CIO.

The plan calls for the selection of 225 trainees in California from among disadvantaged youngsters. The trainees will undergo two months of rigid pre-apprenticeship training to determine if they have the aptitude, ability, and desire to enter the formal apprenticeship program.

Upon completion of the first phase of the pre-apprenticeship training, those youngsters who decide against entering apprenticeship will be offered employment aboard ships as waiters and stewards. The youngsters who wish to persue the apprenticeship route to a career in the merchant marine will then receive an additional two months of pre-apprenticeship training, and then will be placed aboard shipping lines of the Pacific Maritime Association to begin their formal four-year apprenticeship program. Every youngster, therefore, is guaranteed a job if he completes training.

The Labor Department has underwritten the pre-apprenticeship phase of the training.

Interested persons may contact Office of Information, U.S. Department of Labor, 450 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Calif., 94102, or phone 556-3423.

TB Epidemic Stemmed From Arthritis

SAN FRANCISCO – Just over a year ago an unusual episode in a midwest nursery school suddenly placed 20 children on the sick list. A tuberculosis epidemic had broken out. In addition to the 20 with active disease, many others had acquired TB infection but were not actually ill.

The incident is worth recalling for a couple of strange reasons. For one thing, such epidemics have become comparatively rare; evidently they still happen. Another thing: it all began with a case of arthritis.

The arthritis sufferer, a member of the school's adult staff, was being treated with steroid drugs. Some years before she had had tuberculosis, but it had long since retreated to an inactive stage. Now it was found active again.

Coincidence? Not a bit. It has been known for some time that steroid drugs such as cortisone, often prescribed for arthritis, can cause TB to change from an inactive to an active phase. It can also activate TB in a person who has tuberculosis infection but has never had the active disease.

The American Thoracic Society, medical section of the National Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, wrapped up the situation in a comment published in its magazine, Clinical Notes on Respiratory Diseases:

"It needs to be emphasized again and again that no patient should be treated with adrenal corticosteroids without a careful investigation for the presence of tuberculosis." The ATS also recommends the anti-TB drug isoniazid for any patient with a history of TB while he is receiving steroid treatment and for six weeks after.

The patient, needless to say, shares the responsibility. Any person who has ever had TB infection or active disease should make sure his doctor knows about it—particularly if present treatment involves a steroid drug.

Insurance Board Suggests California Rate Increase

SAN FRANCISCO – The Insurance Rating Board has recommended insurance rate adjustments for private passenger cars in California. It has also recommended changes in the safe driver insurance plan which will eliminate some rate penalties that have been part of the plan.

The rate adjustments, IRB explained, are "advisory" only and not all insurers will necessarily adopt them. For those companies that do adopt them, the changes will mean higher rates for some policyholders and lower rates for others, resulting in a small overall premium increase – 3.2 per cent– to the companies utilizing these changes.

The IRB, an insurance rating organization licensed by the state, said that the actual rate levels in California are established by competition among the companies and less than 30 per cent of the automobile insurance business in the state is written by IRB companies.

The rating board said that the continuing upward trend of automobile accident costs requires that insurance companies collect 3.2 per cent more statewide premium revenue for all automobile insurance coverages combined.

The changes will have the effect of increasing the premium revenue six-tenths of one per cent for liability and medical payments coverage and 5.6 per cent for physical damage insurance – comprehensive and collision coverages.

While some policyholders will pay more for their insurance and others will pay less, the increases and the reductions depend on the trend of accident costs in the area where the policyholder lives and on the driving record of the motorists covered under the policy. The changes, the IRB said, go into effect this month, but individual policy-holders would not be affected until their policies are renewed.

The IRB said that "competition among insurance companies in California clearly demonstrates that insured motorists do not like to pay increased premiums for minor traffic violations and minor accidents which, under the present safe driver plan, have resulted in jumps in some cases of 10, 30 and even 50 per cent in their auto insurance rates.

"For that reason," the IRB said, "we have revised the plan to eliminate the surcharges for minor violations and minor accidents. This means that the premium lost because of the elimination of these surcharges will be partially offset by charging higher rates for those drivers who cause serious accidents or who have serious traffic conviction records. The rest of the premium lost will be offset by spreading a small increase among all policyholders.

Teale Asks Route Study

A Senate Resolution calling for a study by the Department of Public Works of the best route for a new crossing of Highway 49 in the area of the proposed Auburn Dam was introduced today by Sen. Stephen P. Teale (D–West Point).

Officials in both Placer and El Dorado Counties are favoring a twin bridge crossing for the highway upstream from the proposed dam, but Auburn area officials favor a bridge across the crest of the dam.

Teale, whose 12–county Third Senatorial District includes the counties of Placer and El Dorado, said today in introducing the resolution that unless agreement could be reached on between local, state and federal governments, the huge dam project could be threatened with delays.

"Everyone seems to be taking sides on this issue," Teale said, "but I am not al all sure that anyone has all the information necessary to make a final decision. The study proposed in this resolution should supply this missing information."

The resolution directs the Department of Public Works to review and study the merits and costs of construction of the various proposed routes for State Highway 49 in the area of the proposed dam and coordinate its review and study with the Federal Bureau of Reclamation. The report is to be presented to the Senate on or before October 9, 1968.

4-H Week Coming

National 4-H Week will be observed October 6th through 12th. All over the country, communities like Reno and the Reno Area will have an opportunity to see what the "Head-Heart--Hands and Health" program really means to thousands upon thousands of American youngsters.

As a part of the observance, Park Lane Centre will turn over its malls on October 12th to the 4-H, for the purpose of showing the public some of their accomplishments and inform more youngsters and parents the what, how and why of 4-H.

In line with accomplishments, the October 12th scheduled activities will include two very entertaining programs. Starting at 10:00 A.M. and lasting until 12:00 Noon, the publuc will be treated to a 4-H square dancing exhibition on the mall. Also on the mall, the same afternoon, between 1:00 P.M. and 4:00 P.M., 4-H members will present a "Fitting and Obedience" dog show. The 4-H dog show is open to all 4-H members (actively enrolled in dog care). For information on entering, contact your local County Extension office.

Villainy once more hits the boards....as honor and virtue triumphs in the nick of time. Here we see a scene from the classic "The Drunkard", which enjoyed a 40 week run at the "Bella Union Variety Hall". Park Lane shoppers will be seeing the Bella Union Players from time to time with vignette offerings on the mall band stand. Future publications of the Park Lane Shopping Guide will give time schedules. The Bella Union is unique in the Reno area as it is really the only place in town where family entertainment is featured. Melodrama theatre in the old fashioned style is finding its way back onto the American entertainment scene and Reno's Bella Union Players have been rated right along with some of the older melodrama groups in the country.

Currently, the great "Ten Nights In a Barroom" is packing them in...the highlight of the evening is the olio portion of the show in which old-time vaudville keeps the audience howling with laughter and singing. A fun night for everyone who attends the Bella Union Variety Hall at 4250 South Virginia Street, Reno. Reservations may be made by calling 329-1927.

PARK LANE

under the PARK LANE Clock...

Well, summer's over, at least to thousands of school children who always feel that summer vacations are too short at their beginning, but who, toward the end, become bored and ready for another school year.

Not only have the children become bored with the summer routine, but many a mother finds relief in September's school opening as well. In keeping with this new-found freedom for Mrs. Housewife, Park Lane Centre has scheduled a series of fashion shows of special interest to the adult, young-at-heart, Mrs. Housewife.

The very latest in Fall and Winter fashions will be presented on stage in the mall this Thursday and Friday evenings at 7:30 P.M., and Saturday afternoon at 2:30 P.M., with most of Park Lane Centre's fashion stores, plus specialty shops, taking part in the program. Should we have bad weather, the shows will move into the International Pavilion.

Betty ("Be My Guest") Scoglund of KOLO-TV, Channel 8, Reno, will do the commentary for all three shows with each show being completely different and representing different stores in the center.

Another exciting feature of the shows will be the musical artistry of Mr. Charles Senseman at the Baldwin organ, courtesy of Greco's House of Music. Mr. Senseman and his Baldwin will not only provide the musical background for the shows, but will entertain the public one half hour before each show.

Why not spend a leisure evening at Park Lane, seeing the latest in fashions and being delightfully entertained by Mr. Senseman at the organ?

Hats off to Thom McAn Shoe Company and the United States Jaycees organization for their help in providing funds for our U.S. Olympic team, through their cooperative program titled Olympic Torch '68. The 6,300 local U.S. Jaycees organizations, and the 900 agents of Thom McAn Shoe Company, will participate in the program through September 30th. Funds raised by both organizations will go to provide the best in training and facilities for the hundreds of American athletes who represent this country in the International Olympic Games. If you would like to help support the U.S. Olympic Team, stop in the Thom McAn Shoe store at Park Lane and get more information.

Boy Proves to Be Rugged Hiker

Residents of Stateline know who to contact for advice before starting on a Sunday afternoon hike. He is 11-year-old Kevin Wines.

Kevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Wines of Stateline completed a 50 mile hike Sunday evening, August 18th, 17½ hours after he began the trek to earn a merit badge. He was one of 12 Boy Scouts from Zepher Cove Troop 169 who left Round Hill at 4:20 a.m. Sunday for the hike which had to be completed in 20 hours or less.

Of those who started, only Kevin finished the 50 mile hike over Spooner Summit to Grass Valley and Genoa and around to Gardnerville.

The youth, youngest member of the Boy Scout group, wore out several adults who took turns keeping up with him.

CMA Gives Health Tips

SAN FRANCISCO — California Medical Association, 693 Sutter St., answers common questions concerning headaches. The following questions and answers probe the causes, types and methods of treatment.

Q. What causes headache?

A. There are many causes — diseases of the sinuses, teeth, eyes, infection, head injury, and others. The pain itself is usually in the blood vessels or the muscles of the head. The brain itself is insensitive to pain, though the membranes surrounding it may produce pain if injured.

Q. What is "tension headache?"

A. This is a phrase coined by advertising writers, based on fact. Tension in the muscles of the neck, face, and jaw may produce pain — and many persons tend to tense these muscles when under stress.

Q. What is the treatment of tension headache?

A. This is easier to say than to do. Probably the best thing to do is to lie down and relax, but often this is not possible. Ordinary aspirin is as effective as any other drug available without prescription.

Q. What is a migraine headache?

A. A form of headache believed to be related to a functional disturbance of the circulation within the cranium, probably involving dilation or construction of the cranial arteries. It often affects only one side of the head at a time, and may be accompanied by, or preceded by, nausea, vomiting, blind spots in the field of vision, or flashes of light. There is a strong tendency for migraine headache to run in families, and we commonly find that if a patient had migraine, one of his parents does also.

Q. What is the treatment for migraine?

A. Aspirin, with or without caffeine citrate, or codeine may relieve mild attacks. Severe attacks usually require ergot derivatives, which should be taken as soon after the onset of symptoms as possible. The drugs require careful evaluation by the doctor, including regular visits to his office for checkups and perhaps x-rays. Close cooperation between patient and doctor can usaully bring about good control, if not complete relief, of the attacks.

Q. What is sinus headache?

A. A result of inflammation and swelling in the membranes of the nose. Shrinking the swelling with nose drops or spray or decongestant pills usually brings relief. Persistent nasal infection, with or without headache, requires medical attention.

Q. Aren't headaches sometimes a sign of serious illness?

A. Yes. Brain tumor, brain hemorrhage, high blood pressure, meningitis, and other diseases may produce headache. However, all of these conditions are rare, and headaches are so common as to be almost universal. Most headaches are due to the causes already listed — plus, of course, the morning-after headache.

Q. How can I tell whether my headache indicates something serious? When should I see a doctor about it?

A. That is hard to answer: a headache rising from a serious cause can actually be mild. One guide may be this: check with the doctor if the headache is different from the usual pattern — if it is more severe or persistent, felt in a different place, or occurs at unusual times. Headache associated with any other sign of trouble — difficulty with vision, weakness, paralysis, numbness, fever, nose bleeds, dizziness, nausea, vomiting, excessive sleepiness, or fainting — should be reported to the doctor at once. Headache following a head injury, though very common, should always be evaluated by the physician.

Q. What can I do for my "everyday" headache?

A. If possible, lie down and relax. This takes the tension off the neck muscles. Gentle massage or mild heat may help the muscles in the back of the neck.
